Home - And Wreathed in Smiles

C.Q.M.S. Charles Sluggett, 38, of 1481 Hillside, newest Victoria returnee of the 27th Canadian special brigade from Germany, was wildly welcomed home by his five children Wednesday. "It's good to be back and see the wife and kids," said the Second World War veteran, as he

Prime Ministers Prepare for June Talks as They Wind Up Conference

LONDON, Dec. 11 (Reuters).—Commonwealth prime ministers today wound up their economic conference and began making arrangements to return here in June for more talks.

Prime Minister Churchill is extending formal invitations to the Commonwealth statesmen to attend a second conference at the time of the Coronation.

In the meantime United States and European co-operation will be sought in the sterling recovery plan that has been drafted. A statement issued at the closing of the conference made it clear that such co-operation is essential to the plan.

It stressed the desirability of building up an effective system of trade among all countries. An integral part of such trade was the convertibility of sterling, the statement said, but that could only be achieved by progressive stages.

Commonwealth Bonds Advocated in U.K.

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP).—A suggestion that government-backed bonds in denominations of 10 shillings and £1 be offered to the people of the Commonwealth to finance an Empire development plan, is made by the Daily Mail in a front-page editorial today.

The paper proposes the plan as an alternative to a proposal reported to have been discussed at the prime ministers' economic conference which concludes today. This was that a finance corporation be set up to raise and allot funds required for development of particular Commonwealth countries. The idea, the report said, was to seek the necessary financial backing in the United States, in other words to marry American capital with London's financial know-how.

"What about combining British capital with British know-how?" the Daily Mail asks. "After all we are dealing with the British Empire. It should not be fertilized by dollars, because the dollar-owners would also own the Empire."

Chetwynd Won't Arbitrate Fish Dispute

Fisheries Minister Ralph Chetwynd has refused to arbitrate the price dispute which has tied up British Columbia's multi-million dollar herring industry since October.

"At the present moment I cannot see where arbitration would be the means of starting fishing immediately, and that is the most important factor for the welfare of 5,000 persons and millions of dollars worth of equipment presently idle," Mr. Chetwynd said today.

31 Chinese Die In Plane Crash

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 11 (AP).—A Nationalist Chinese Air Force transport crashed into a mountainside near Taipei Monday and killed 31 persons, including two women and three children, it was reported today.

The victims included 26 members of the air force.

Quebec Police Fire on Rioting Textile Strikers

Five Wounded, 25 Held, Authorities Read Riot Act

(Compiled from BUP-CP Dispatches)

LOUISVILLE, Que., Dec. 11.—Police opened fire on rioting textile plant strikers today in Louisville, Que. At least five have been wounded, one seriously, and 30 others arrested as violence erupted for the fifth time in a nine-month strike against the Associated Textile Company Ltd.

The riot flared when police ordered strikers to break up a parade and they refused. Patrolmen used night sticks and guns to disperse the milling strikers who gathered near the Textile Company plant.

Paul Benoit, head of the provincial police anti-subversive squad headquarters, read the Riot Act in the town forbidding the gathering of groups and making anyone found in the streets open for questioning. It put a form of martial law into effect.

Five union men were injured at union headquarters, two of them reported wounded by bullets. The others were reported slightly wounded in scuffling with police.

300 MARCH

The first outbreak came early this morning when the 300 marched to the company's plant. Among them were the 50 reported to have come in from Granby, Que., by bus.

Strikers said police were on the plant roof and on the ground and that those on the roof began firing and throwing tear gas bombs. Police on the ground rushed the marchers and dispersed them.

The strikers and sympathizers then headed back into town and went to union headquarters. They said a police car drew up. The strikers said they threw snowballs at the policemen, who moved in. Fighting broke out. Shots were fired and clubs wielded.

Raymond Gagnon, business agent of the union, said he called on Paul Benoit, officer in charge of the provincial police, to restore order.

About 300 employees of the textile plant went on strike last spring for higher wages and improved working conditions. Several attempts since then to settle the dispute have failed.

Earlier this week an empty bus was dynamited in this industrial town, about 65 miles from Montreal. No one was injured but damage was estimated at $4,000.

The Riot Act was last read in Quebec on May 5, 1949, following a bloody outbreak that marked a strike of asbestos miners at Asbestos. Twelve policemen were injured and road blocks, set up by the 5,000 strikers, cut off the town.

Victoria tire dealers said they had received no word from the factories about price reductions, but expected to hear at any time.

WALL OF PREJUDICE?

China Unified For First Time

Exclusive on Vancouver Island

Following is one of a series of articles by a well-known Montreal editor and publisher who spent September behind the Iron Curtain with an invitation to the World Peace Congress in Peking. When you return from a three-week trip to China, you are immediately asked simple questions like, "When will the revolution break out in China? Will Chiang Kai-shek soon invade the continent?"

Even if you had spent your entire life in China you would be hard put to answer such complex questions. It is therefore, unlikely that a newspaperman who only passed through the country could have the answers.

Mao-Tse-tung's government is the first one to have unified the country, restored order and thrown the foreigners out.

In 1942, the British, backed by cannon fire, forced the Emperor to open Chinese ports to western traders, with special emphasis on the opium traffic. There followed a long series of political and economic agreements between the Middle Empire and Western Powers. These agreements were humiliating and dishonorable for the Chinese government. These agreements were called the Unfair Treaties.

At one time even the Chinese Customs Commission was headed by an Englishman. Chinese territory was split up into zones of influence and the Western Powers

Filion

The Chinese, whether they are Communists or not, are very proud of their strong government. It has proved itself able to keep order at home and to maintain the honor of China outside the country's borders. They don't hide the fact that they are pleased the foreigners have been thrown out and that China is being run by Chinese.

Mao-Tse-tung's master stroke was his rapid adoption of land reform and his handing over of the land to the peasants.

FEW VOTERS TURN OUT FOR CIVIC BALLOT

Weather Blamed For Poor Showing

A cold, driving rain and colorless election campaign combined to give Victoria a light poll of 1,340 up to noon today.

A total vote somewhere in the "7,000's" is now expected by Returning Officer Frank Hunter who had earlier estimated a possible 9,000 poll.

By 12 noon in the Dec. 1950, election—last non-mayoral year, 1,887 persons had voted. This was 557 more than up to noon today.

Call B 3131 for Results Expected By 10.30 p.m.

"The result so far indicates a below average vote even for a non-mayoral year," commented Mr. Hunter.

Forty persons were waiting for the doors of the central polling station in the Public Market to open this morning.

First voters were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Whellams of 1130 Woodstock.

Polls close at 7 p.m. and the first count will be under way by about 7.15 in the firemen's hall above the market.

Four aldermen are to be elected from a field of eight; two school trustees from a field of three and one police commissioner selected from two candidates.

All voters cast ballots on a Yates Street firehall referendum. Property owners voted on a Debuture Debt Pre-levy By-law and a Pemberton Woods Subdivision By-law.

French Police Arrest 1,000 In Casablanca

CASABLANCA, Morocco (Reuters).—The entire 24 members of the general staff of the Moroccan nationalist movement was arrested overnight in police raids on four cities, French officials reported today.

Twelve Communist leaders were also arrested for participation in the bitter anti-French rioting Monday which killed more than 50 persons. Most of the Communists are Europeans and were quickly flown to Paris.

More than 1,000 Moroccans altogether have been arrested by French police and troops since Monday and more arrests are expected. "Our operations against the ringleaders have not yet been completed," a police spokesman said today.

Hume Wins in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 11 (BUP).—Electrical contractor Fred J. Hume, 60, started his second two-year term as mayor of Vancouver today winning by 5,000 votes over C.C.F. candidate Tom Alsbury in Wednesday's civic election.

The final tabulation gave Hume 30,647 votes and Alsbury 25,453. Hume, who sought re-election to complete public works projects started during his first term, took an early lead and gradually increased it.

Property owners passed three money by-laws totalling over $12,000,000 in resounding fashion. A $10,500,000 public works by-law and a $750,000 measure for erection of a British Empire Games stadium passed with a 77 per cent majority—well ahead of the two-thirds required. A $1,000,000 by-law for erection of buildings at the Pacific National Exhibition grounds obtained a 73 per cent majority.

'Ol' Vic' Tops List in Survey Of Daily Times Feature Items

'Ol' Vic, the pipe-smoking homespun philosopher who opines in rustic accents on every subject under the sun from the front page of The Times daily, is easily the most popular character among Times readers.

A recent sampling survey showed that 94 per cent of the subscribers to The Times are 'Ol' Vic fans. He led the field of 56 features on which readership was sought as a means of helping the editors to give Times' readers what they want in their daily paper.

But despite his popularity 'Ol' Vic refuses to disclose his identity. "I'm retirin' b' nature," 'Ol' Vic says. "That's better'n retirin' b' request."

Dr. Chisholm To Quit Post

GENEVA, Dec. 11 (Reuters).—Dr. Brock Chisholm of Canada today announced his resignation from the post of director-general of the world health organization, to take effect when his contract expires July 31, 1953.

In a letter to the president of the fifth world health assembly, Dr. Juan Salcedo, dated Nov. 4, Dr. Chisholm said: "I believe that a permanent organization should not have the same head for too long."

LOST Q.C.A. OFFICIAL FOUND 'ALIVE AND WELL'

VANCOUVER, Dec. 11 (CP).—Thomas McLaughlin, Queen Charlotte Airlines official lost since Tuesday in the mountainous region near Halfmoon Bay, 40 miles northwest of here, was found today.

A Q.C.A. official here said he had no other details except that the 38-year-old chief inspector was "alive and well."

Q.C.A. flew in a 40-man search party at dawn today and other parties, including R.C.M.P., left from nearby Sechart. It is not known which party found McLaughlin.

McLaughlin was lost during the search for the Q.C.A. Anson that crashed in the area Friday, killing Capt. Bruce Wilson.

TAFT-HARTLEY LAW SEEN IN MAKING

Criminal Code Amendments Branded 'Smoke Screen' to Smash Unions

By DON INGHAM
Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO, Dec. 11.—Sections of Bill H-8, containing proposals to amend the Criminal Code of Canada were compared here today to the U.S. Taft-Hartley law.

Speaking before the provincial convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, George Gee, of the Vancouver local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said defense of the bill as a weapon against Communism is a "smoke screen."

"The Taft-Hartley Law in the United States was adopted to fight Communism," he said, "but is being used to smash labor unions."

Attacks on the proposed amendments, now before the Canadian Senate, culminated in the unanimous adoption of a resolution: "That all sections covering the rights of workers to strike and picket be deleted, and that all sections affecting the democratic rights of citizens be amended or deleted."

HEADS CRITICIZED

A letter from the Trades and Labor Congress national headquarters, sent to all unions, drew sharp criticism for its statement that "we are not unduly alarmed at the proposals in Bill H-8, if adopted it will make the Criminal Code a much simpler document for the man on the street to understand."

Discussion of the letter led to some harsh statements for and against the national officers of the congress.

"Officers of the T.L.C. headquarters should be criticized for not alerting us sooner about this bill," said Mr. Gee.

R. K. Gervin, convention chairman, defended the stand of T.L.C. president Percy Bough and Gordon Cushing, secretary.

"I support our recommendation. We must oppose any motion that restricts labor unions," Mr. Gervin said. "But they have given us leadership as they see it. They are in a better position than us to know what is going on in Ottawa, and they know what to do," he concluded.

75th Traffic Victim of Year

VANCOUVER, Dec. 11 (CP).—A North Vancouver woman, Mrs. Margaret Davidson, was fatally injured Wednesday night when she was struck by a car. Mrs. Davidson, who died in hospital, was the B.C. lower mainland's 75th traffic fatality of 1952.

Of lesser interest are the space adventures of Chris Welkin which apparently have not captured the imagination of Victoria youngsters, but they are in the minority among the comic page readers.

The whole purpose of the survey is to help in improving your daily paper and the resulting action will appear in due course. Meantime the publisher and editors of The Times wish to thank all those subscribers who devoted their time to marking the questions and the carrier boys who delivered and collected them.

EDITORIALS RATE HIGH

One of the pleasing features to the publisher and editors of the paper is the extraordinarily high readership of the editorial page. Better than three out of four subscribers turn to Page Four every day for the comments of editorial writers, columnists and cartoonists on the affairs of the community, the nation and the world. Letters to the editor have the highest single rating on the page, with the leading editorials almost on a par.

Other departments of the paper, sports, women's pages, finance and business, entertainment, all have their devoted fans. The comic page is due for a bit of a shaking up as a result of the survey.

Topping the popularity list on the page is the timeless panel "Out Our Way," closely followed by "Around Home," "Nancy," "Mark Trail" and "Dick Tracy," "Orphan Annie," "Buz Sawyer" and "Kerry Drake" are other favorites.

Of lesser interest are the space adventures of Chris Welkin which apparently have not captured the imagination of Victoria youngsters, but they are in the minority among the comic page readers.

M' Uncle Zeke's changed his mind an' will vote ag'inst th' proposed racetrack. Found his worst enemy's property ain't near the site after all.

I sure got that car insurance problem licked. I walk.

Victoria folks who don't mark their public "aye" today should keep out o' th' public eye t'morra, when th' results don't suit 'em.

More than 1,200 Times subscribers helped in the survey by marking a questionnaire listing the features they read and the ones they like best. Due to practical limitations only a portion of Times' readers could be canvassed.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

DUCKS, LIMITED

WHETHER IT'S DUE to the stormy weather having blown them off their course or not, the collection of feathered friends who come around our garden and that of our neighbors has lately been augmented by a covey—or is it flock?—of ducks.

Or it may be that they are mallards or whaupps or some other species of waterfowl, but they look like ducks to me as they squat almost motionless on the lawn, as if brooding over affairs in duckland and the sorry state of things in general.

DECORATIVE, TOO

ONE OF THEM has lent a very decorative touch to the scene, being beautifully marked with a broad stripe of black running down the back and along the wings so that when at rest its body presents an appearance of broad black and white alternating stripes, while its head has a greenish bronze lustre.

It was amusing to note the approach of several of our "I say 'our,'" because I feel almost as if they belong to us—pheasants the other day. The cock pulled up short as if shocked at the presence of the interlopers and turned to his two meek-looking little wives and evidently told them to get along home, for they scurried off immediately.

IMPERVIOUS TO INSULT

MR. COCK PHEASANT, however, scratched around a bit, as if to establish beyond any doubt his prior claim to that particular stamping ground. He punctuated his pecks with looks at the ducks that could have killed, and I am pretty certain that he directed birdland epithets at them as well, for daring to trespass on his bailiwick. But the squatters seemed as impervious to his insults as they are to the proverbial water.

There is something laughably human about birds when they get together, just as there is about animals. Or perhaps it is that my peculiar sense of humor invariably sees in them a counterpart either of myself or of people I have known. But if you get time to watch their antics, you will find it rewarding.

PROTECTION ACT

SPEAKING OF BIRDS, I noticed in an English newspaper's report of a court case concerning a case of cruelty to birds that it is 25 years since that country passed its Protection of Birds Act.

The measure was sponsored by Sir Harry Brittain, then a Member of the British House, as well as an honorary graduate of McGill University and founder of the Empire Press Union. Sir Harry, who is 79, recalled that as a boy of 15 he came across a man setting traps and using wing-tied birds as decoys.

KNOCK HIM DOWN

HE WENT UP to the man, intending to knock him down, but found that the man was so much bigger that Harry was the only casualty, retiring with a bruised nose and back eye. However, as he ran off he shouted that he would get even with the man. It wasn't until he got his Bill through the House of Commons in 1925 that he fulfilled his threat.

Incidentally, the passing of that Bill was accompanied by one of those amusing little incidents that add color to legislative processes. It nearly failed to pass the House of Lords—through which all bills have to be finalized—because of a split infinitive.

SPLIT INFINITIVE

SIR HARRY HAD used the words in one clause: "To freely stretch its wings." Such a solecism was of far more concern to the august peers than the avowed purpose and principle of the measure to protect birds.

The Lords debated that split infinitive "ad infinitum" for the whole of one morning, and evidently so exhausted themselves over that flagrant breach of purism that the Bill became law almost unnoticed by them.

Toronto Mayor Blasts Don Jail Report

'Fails to Answer How Boyd Gang Escaped'

TORONTO, Dec. 11 (BUP)

A royal commission report on the Don jail was criticized by Mayor Allan Lamport today for failing to answer the No. 1 question: How did the Edwin Alonzo Boyd gang escape?

"The report is no better than the grand jury reports the city has been getting for years," Lamport said. "It still fails to answer the important question—how did the Boyd gang escape?"

"I thought this commission was supposed to be finding out who was to blame for the jailbreak, but it apparently fails to grasp even the important and fundamental difference between a jail and a lockup."

Lamport said the 65-page report, released Wednesday after two months' hearings into the notorious jailbreak, failed to distinguish a jail from a lockup, where persons charged are kept pending trial.

There were indications the report would come up for hot debate on other sides.

Attorney-General Dana Porter promised to consider relieving the Don's sheriff of responsibility, but that was only a squib in the list of 11 explosive reforms.

The debate was seen to rage around two protagonists. Jail Governor Thomas W. Brand and deputy Governor Alexander Noble.

Judge Ian MacDonell, who headed the commission, laid the blame for the four men's escape on Brand's shoulders and found Noble a "conscientious officer." But Reforms Minister John W. Foote was inclined to blame Noble and said he certainly would not fire Brand.

GOOD MAN

"I find no evidence that the governor was lacking in diligence," Foote said Wednesday. "I have the feeling he is a good man and I think he had more to cope with than anybody realized. I am certainly not going to throw anyone to the wolves."

He said Brand would remain in the service, even if not as governor.

Noble said he felt the commission was "fully justified" in recommending Brand's dismissal. But Foote said "Noble was a man with 25 years' experience. He should not have left Brand behind the eightball by ignoring the warning signals from the listening device which had been placed in the prisoners' cell corridor."

The commission had admitted the escape might never have occurred if Brand had been supplied with sufficient staff, but nevertheless found him "without executive ability nor experience" to run the Don.

N.A.T.O. Will Hold 'Lame Duck' Session

Changing U.S. Administration Hits Next Week's Parley; Important Reports Scheduled

By PHIL NEWSOM, United Press Foreign News Editor

One of the bullwarks of United States foreign policy is the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Next week the foreign and defense ministers of the 14 nations banded together for the defense of the North Atlantic and free Europe hold a "lame duck" session in Paris.

It is "lame duck" in that it falls in the period of changing U.S. administrations, and must postpone important decisions until President-elect Eisenhower and his new government are in a position to participate and make them binding.

However, the Dec. 15 meeting will be of interest because it will receive reports of progress made thus far in building defenses against Communist aggression, and also will set up some signposts for the future.

It will be told, for example, that the 50-division goal for Gen.

'Shield' Against Russian Attack

NATO forces now are strong enough to provide a "shield" against any Communist attack, although far short of being able to meet any all-out assault by Russia's 175 European divisions.

The United States now apparently shares the generally held European belief that 1954 no longer is the "year of decision" which now may be farther off by a year or more.

By and large, the report on 1953 will be encouraging.

Matthew B. Ridgway's European army during 1952 largely has been met—25 in being and 25 in position to be called up within 30 days after the start of any hostilities.

The program for the building of military airfields has been successful, with 126 built or building. Defense strategy has been revised to include Greece and Turkey.

The U.S. and Britain are in agreement or near it on a compromise solution to their agreement over an eastern Mediterranean command—British Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten to receive command of convoy routes but with an American in charge of ground support operations.

But signposts for 1953 point to disappointments. It had been hoped that by the end of 1953 Ridgway's army would have 75 divisions. That figure will be cut back to a probable 63.

Ultimate plans for the European army force included 12 divisions with their supporting units from West Germany. As of today there is no guaranty that an increasingly rebellious German parliament will ratify the plan.

Liberal Win Confidence Test

Government Overrides C.C.F.
Motion of Censure, 185 to 21

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP)—The Liberal government has won its first vote of confidence in the new session of Parliament. The issue: national health insurance.

The Commons, in the first vote of the session which began November 20, Wednesday defeated by a vote of 185 to 21 a C.C.F. motion of non-confidence in the government.

The motion censured the Liberals for "failure" to establish health insurance or to implement proposals for fiscal and financial reform set out at the federal-provincial conference of 1945. Only the C.C.F. and Social Credit parties voted for the motion.

The vote was the first break in the 14-day-old debate on the government's policy-setting speech from the throne. But the debate may go on for some time yet.

Following the division, the Social Credit party introduced another want-of-confidence motion.

Moved by John Blackmore, S.C., Lethbridge, it charged the government had "failed" to sponsor a realistic financial policy guaranteeing adequate markets and a just share of the country's wealth to every Canadian.

The Social Credit motion opened a new opportunity for speakers from any part of the House to talk on any subject they wish.

Also still to be decided is a Progressive Conservative motion of non-confidence. This criticizes the government for alleged waste and extravagance, overtaxation, and for "failure" to take steps for a new federal-provincial conference on health insurance.

90 Shows in 30 Days, Korea Troupe's Record

A weary but happy troupe of Victoria show people arrived home Wednesday, 30 days from the day they left to entertain troops in Korea.

"It's great to be home," the four members of Jerry Gosley's Smile Show unit, beamed when they stepped off the boat from Vancouver. So successful was their tour, however, and so appreciative were the audiences they entertained, they replied affirmatively when asked if they would mind going back again.

"There wouldn't be a second's hesitation," the cheery Gosley said. "I'd be off in a flash if asked to go again. Those fellows over there appreciate what you do for them so much."

Morale of the men in Korea is "terrifically high," he said, considering the men had nothing to do but soldiering.

"There's no place for them to go at all. They're dug in and they just have to sit there."

The four-man unit, comprising Gosley, Verna Moore, Irene Henderson and Al Denoni, gave 90 shows in 30 days while overseas.

They traveled by jeep and covered an estimated 12,000 miles and entertained 15,000 men.

The group was well treated, "just like Hollywood stars," Gosley said.

"Everything that was available, we had," he said. Weather for most of the tour was good. The group gave open air shows right up until two days before it left. Then, the weather turned cold overnight, snow fell and the temperature dropped to 12 degrees below freezing.

British Judge Sentences 19-Year-Old to Gallows

LONDON, Dec. 11 (Reuters).—Derek Bentley, 19, accomplice of a 16-year-old boy who shot and killed a policeman in a rooftop battle, was sentenced today to be hanged for his part in the murder.

Christopher Craig, the boy who fired the shot, was ordered to be detained indefinitely "during the Queen's pleasure." He was saved from the gallows by British law which sets the minimum age for hanging at 18.

The two-day trial centred largely around Craig, described by his defense lawyer as "a symbol of wayward youth." He and Bentley were surprised by police as they clambered over a factory roof.

Craig pulled a .45-calibre revolver and blazed away at the unarmed police. "Just like the films," he told the court.

Police finally sent for a gun. After a few shots were exchanged, Craig shot a constable between the eyes and leaped off the roof. Bentley already had been captured.

The judge, Lord Justice Goddard, told baby-faced Craig, "you are one of the most dangerous young criminals that has ever stood in that dock."

"It is quite obvious that people in this country will not be safe if you are out of prison."

$40,000 Budget Surplus Forecast for Esquimalt

A $40,000 surplus in the 1952 Esquimalt municipal budget was forecast Wednesday night by Mr. J. E. Carey to the annual citizens' forum at the Esquimalt High School.

Total budget for the year is $523,575 and the municipal expenditures to date are $432,906. Approximately $50,000 remains to be expended before the end of the current year, said Mr. Carey, but residents could be sure final figures will be $40,000 "in the black."

Interviewed today Mr. Carey stated the surplus was due to a policy of strict economy. Although his departmental charge was essentially finance, he made it a point to sit in on the municipal works committee meetings and was able to influence economical decisions in some cases, he said.

Kai-Shek Seen Keeping Promise To Return to China Mainland

BY SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa, Dec. 11 (AP)—On Dec. 10 three years ago, President Chiang Kai-shek quit the Chinese mainland for Formosa before the onrush of the conquering Communists.

Chiang vowed to return. But to most people he was finished. Since then, the wheel of fortune has turned. Fewer and fewer persons now deride Chiang's chances of making a comeback.

His armies on that day were beaten and scattered. Today he has possibly 600,000 soldiers on Formosa. While it is shy on equipment, it is getting more and more material help from the United States.

His air force and navy, with obsolescent and inadequate equipment, had preceded him to Formosa. Both forces still need equipment, but they have the promise of more modern tools of war from the United States. And the morale of both services is high.

It was a cold, dismal day that Chiang left Chengtu, last Nationalist capital on the mainland, for the flight to Formosa.

Chengtu had been the capital for 10 brief days after Chiang had withdrawn from Chungking, the previous capital.

People waiting for the fateful hour of departure knew it was at hand when they saw a soldier carry the telephone switchboard from the commandant's house at central military academy, Chiang's headquarters.

A little later Chiang emerged, got into his car and left. He looked at the big bronze statue of himself on the academy grounds.

A few days before he had told this correspondent: "We shall continue the fight from Formosa."

On the way to the airfield, Chiang saw the long lines of his soldiers passing in retreat southward.

Government Insurance Plan Backed by Labor

Special to The Times

NANAIMO, Dec. 11—Delegates from Victoria won solid support at the provincial conference of Trades and Labor Congress unions here, when they put forward a resolution advocating establishment of government-run car insurance scheme.

The resolution also asked that the government investigate the whole question of car insurance as it now exists.

R. K. Gervin, Vancouver, chairman of the meeting, described private auto insurance as "one of the finest financial rackets known."

"Since the government made insurance compulsory, rates have gone up consistently," he said. "I know in the last 18 months mine has gone from $70 to $143."

Another delegate said insurance companies were refusing to issue policies to some motorists who had been involved in accidents. Another suggested co-operative companies should be established in an effort to provide cheaper insurance to motorists.

The formal resolution was put forward by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

Uranium Ore Exports Information Refused

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (BUP)—

Defense Production Minister C. D. Howe refused Wednesday to disclose any information about Canadian exports of uranium ore or concentrates.

Howe said it was not in the

Mr. Drew's Old Feud

MR. DREW HAS CARRIED INTO Parliament his old Ontario feud with the national government over the question of federal-provincial relations. He asks Parliament to repeal the existing fiscal arrangements between the national and provincial governments.

Mr. Drew goes further and declares that, in maintaining these arrangements, the national government is breaking its pledge to the provinces. The system by which the provinces (all except Quebec) "rent" their income tax field to the national government in exchange for federal subsidies was established, as Mr. Drew says, during the emergency of the war. The federal government, he argues, guaranteed to abandon that system one year after the war's end, but still maintains it, against all its pledges.

This, of course, is a complete distortion of the facts. The federal government has never compelled the provinces and could not compel them to continue the tax deal. All of them, except Quebec, have accepted of their own free will arrangements which appear highly profitable to them. All or any one of them could contract out of the deal at any time. None seem anxious to do so. Only a few weeks ago, Ontario, which had stood outside the deal under Mr. Drew, entered it under Mr. Frost, who obviously does not agree with Mr. Drew.

It is ridiculous to say, therefore, that the federal government has violated any pledge or coerced any of the provinces.

Mr. Drew raises a more valid point when he demands a redefinition of federal, provincial and municipal taxation fields. He does not think the provinces should be dependent upon grants from the federal treasury, and he is quite right in saying that, by the first law of taxation, the authority spending the money should itself collect the money and face the taxpayers who pay it. Ideally each government—federal, provincial and municipal—should collect all its own revenues and spend them. No government should be dependent on another. The municipality should not lean on the provincial treasury. The province should not lean on the federal treasury.

That, however, is a counsel of perfection.

Unanswered Saanich Questions

ON SATURDAY THE VOTERS of Saanich have the chance to say whether or not they want 530 acres of the municipality zoned for a race track and exhibition buildings.

That, with certain qualifications and descriptions, is the question put to them in the referendum. On the face of it, the question is simple enough. The controversy arising from the issue, the elaborate plans suggested, and the speculation over further development such as large new roadways make it far more complex.

In the first instance there is a sharp division over the desirability of a race track and fairgrounds. Some residents are violently opposed to the scheme on matters of principle. They are against race tracks. They also point to the fact that Oak Bay did not rest until the old Willows oval, barns and fairground buildings had been removed. They note View Royal's repudiation of the scheme.

On different occasions they have asked other residents of Saanich if the latter feel justified in wishing the project off on a certain neighborhood, provided it is remote from their own. The anti-race track group has declared such an establishment would lower property values and injure the community.

Others in favor of the track have presented contrary arguments and underscored the value of the development

tion and impractical in a federal system, especially in a diverse country like Canada. For the clear fact is that some poor provinces simply cannot collect enough revenues within their boundaries to provide a tolerable level of public service and some municipalities are in the same position within the provinces. No redefinition of taxation fields between the three levels of government would cure that situation for it is the result of an unequal distribution of wealth among the various economic zones of the nation.

One of the basic purposes of the existing policy, and the key recommendation of the Rowell-Sirois Report, is a fairer distribution of national wealth. In short, the richer areas are asked to make some contribution to the cost of public service in the poorer areas.

The reason for this policy is not purely humanitarian, though that would be reason enough. As the Rowell-Sirois Report finds, the unity and health of the nation cannot survive if some areas, through no fault of their own, are compelled to live in penury, with intolerably low standards of public service, while other areas prosper, with high standards—especially when the poorer areas know that their relative poverty is largely due to national policies like the protective tariff which concentrates wealth at the centre of the nation.

Hence the necessity of some redistribution of revenues from the richer to the poorer. That must involve subsidies from the federal treasury since there is no other channel of redistribution.

The present taxation arrangements are not perfect by any means, but Mr. Drew does not present any alternative. He is only using this problem as a handy stick with which to beat the government. That no doubt is a legitimate tactic for a parliamentary opposition. It is designed chiefly to curry favor with the Duplessis government of Quebec, which has always rejected the present tax deal on spurious grounds of provincial "autonomy."

But if Mr. Drew is playing skillful politics he is not offering a policy. Few provinces will give up their lucrative federal subsidies in exchange for average promise of new revenue fields.

The issue goes further than that. Residents have asked who would finance such an undertaking. They want to know, and rightly, what interests are behind the scheme, whether or not it is a mere promotion, and what kind of people they will be dealing with. The inquiries seem legitimate. So far the principals have not been revealed.

Beyond that, the immediate race track-exhibition building proposal has been accompanied by nebulous plans for a tremendous and costly pleasureland which appeals to some residents and provokes a feeling of repugnance in others. Opponents have asked for facts. They have listened to multi-million-dollar talk. They want to know where that money is coming from. They also want to know what it will do to their property, whether existing improvements, on which they have spent their own money, will be carved up to provide roads and other facilities, whether the rural attractions which drew them to Saanich will be spoiled in the process.

These are questions which should be answered before the residents commit themselves. Until they are answered, thoughtful Saanich voters will be disinclined to saddle one part of their municipality with something they would not like in their own immediate vicinity.

Manufacturers at Bay

THE MANY TRADE MISSIONS of all kinds that have visited this country from the United Kingdom since the close of the war indicate a generally heightened appreciation of Canada as a market for British goods. But that there are still some commercial redoubts holding out against the siege of the 20th century is indicated by the experience of a Canadian writer who recently interviewed British manufacturers regarding their plans for selling products to Canada.

As quoted by the writer, one manufacturer said: "No, we haven't thought about the Canadian market yet because we've had so few enquiries from Canada. Maybe we'll have to take one of our engines to Canada as I believe they've found some oil there, haven't they?"

The other sample of salesmanship was given as: "Why should we change our car to suit Canadian requirements? If it's good enough for the rest of the Empire, I'm sure Canadians, who are essentially British, will grow to like it over the years—after all, you Canadians are closer to Britain in your thinking and way of life than to the United States."

This sort of thing may do much to explain at least a part of the problem Britain now faces in her struggle for economic survival. It is no longer typical, as no doubt it was after the First World War, but even one big businessman talking in that manner can lose enough export business to affect his country's future.

Ottawa Hears B.C. Echoes

THE VERBAL FIRE-CRACKERS exploded in British Columbia's recent by-election campaign are still echoing in Ottawa and apparently more detonations are in store.

Social Credit leader Solon Low and C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell have not finished with the latter's B.C. charge that "the Social Credit movement through its leader Solon Low, has displayed anti-semitism and racial discrimination."

Mr. Low, in Parliament, has denied "most vehemently that I have ever preached, reflected or displayed in the actions of my life either racial discrimination or anti-semitism."

Mr. Coldwell has replied, "I have the proof here."

Parliamentary procedure prevented Mr. Coldwell from presenting his evidence at that point of debate, but the challenge to do so at a later date has been issued and accepted. The fight is still going on.

The proceedings will be watched with particular interest by the people of this province. Not only were the fuses for these explosions lighted here, but vital democratic principles are at stake in the charge which Mr. Low attacked as "cesspool methods" on the part of his opponent.

LOOSE ENDS

The Ladies

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

FOR some weeks past, at a safe distance, I have been watching two patriotic ladies patiently sorting out the records and finances of a certain ladies' club. They will get no pay for their many eight-hour days. At any skilled worker's wages they could have earned enough by this time to take a trip to California but they will continue to ride within the boundaries of their own town on a bus.

In the general view all such work, duplicated in a thousand and more obscure organizations throughout the country, is mostly waste motion. After all, what has been accomplished in the end? The ladies' club will hear a few public speakers (who won't say much, if I know that species), they will hold a few tea parties, they will conduct a raffle and nothing more will be heard of them. That is the common view, especially among men, and more especially among men whose households are invaded by the organized ladies but, like most common views, it is quite wrong.

THE LARGER PURPOSE

Perhaps unconsciously these ladies and countless other Canadians, male and female, are not conducting some useless local organizations. They are organizing and conducting democracy. Without them, without their curious and forgotten little clubs, there could be no democracy. In the end there could be no freedom for anybody.

Democracy, in the headlines, usually seems to rest on the foundation of rival political parties. Those parties are important, no doubt, they are the great invention of the British parliamentary system, which cannot function without them. But if democracy rested on them alone we could kiss it good-bye tonight.

Democracy happily is a much wider growth, penetrating far beyond its mechanical instruments, the political organizations, into every organization in the land. The Stamp Collectors' Society, if there is one; the Amalgamated Union of Bird Watchers; the Society for the Promotion of Refrigerators for the Eskimos; the Tuberous Begonia Growers' Guild and the League of Tired Newspaper Columnists (of which I am President Emeritus)—all of them, however ineffectual they seem and however dark their purpose, are all essential strands in the warp and woof of any free society.

THE END RESULT

What do they accomplish? Apparently very little. The postage stamps would get along quite well without any collectors, the birds would live happily even if they were never watched, the Eskimos can look after themselves, the begonias will continue to flourish unaided and the columnists will always be tired anyway. Yes, but observe the wider sub-conscious and vital effects of all this apparently wasted motion and money.

It is only through organizations, whatever their purpose, that human beings of various sorts can ever get together. Without that common ground society hives itself off into classes, the like of which are never watched, the Eskimos can look after themselves, the begonias will continue to flourish unaided and the columnists will always be tired anyway. Yes, but observe the wider sub-conscious and vital effects of all this apparently wasted motion and money.

THE SHARP EDGES

The private organizations, especially if they are perfectly absurd, useless and therefore precious, cut clear across economic, religious and political divisions. They bring together people of every class, income bracket, religion and political belief. Therein the sharp edges of social conflict are blunted, the great compromises which are the very essence of a free society are effected so quietly that hardly anyone knows about it at the time.

The woman who goes to her club may be affected or not by the speaker. Assuredly she is affected by all the other women. The bird watcher may learn nothing from the birds but he learns, unawares, from his fellow watchers.

Thus day by day, through countless tiny and invisible channels of communication, society (which is basically a conflict of interest and ideas) is reconciled and somehow manages to lurch onward, if not in good order at least without self-destruction.

The more organizations the better and the more absurd they may appear the more useful they are likely to be, since they will attract and smooth off the absurd and prickly people who otherwise would be dangerous.

I am watching with interest and approval, therefore, these two ladies who for some weeks have converted my house into a kind of party headquarters, a chaos of paper records and membership cards, for I know that, poor souls, they are accomplishing far more than they can imagine. But I hope they finish soon or I shall have to appeal to the League of Tired Columnists, who are always too tired to protect their members.

Look Who's Steering

As Our Readers See It

TRIBUTE TO ANSCOMB

It is with considerable regret one reads that the former minister of finance, Mr. Herbert Anscomb, has resigned as leader of the Progressive Conservatives. This province can ill afford to lose the services of so outstanding a man who has knowledge of B.C.'s problems both civic and provincially as few if any have.

It is to be hoped that while stepping out of the provincial field, he will enter the federal election to represent the Island, where his services at Ottawa would be invaluable. Surely this country needs such men loyal in their beliefs and upright in principles.

As one of many who during my years in British Columbia have followed this very able man's career with interest, through your medium I would like to offer my humble expression of thanks for his contributions in the legislature. Party members and the public seldom hesitate to heap fires of criticism on public servants—but how loath they are to give a pat on the back occasionally and show them just a little of human kindness.

HARRY CUMMINS.
Westbank, West Vancouver.

HERE TOO

The Russian dictatorship controlled by a very few men is leaving its trail of horror even among its most ardent and cruel supporters.

We can hark back to the Moscow trials and Yushinsky's part in them, the merciless, insidious murder of Trotsky, even though in Mexico, Ana Pauker will undoubtedly get the axe and the recent "murders" of Slansky, Clementis, etc., all show a pattern. Cardinal Mindszenty was undoubtedly dragged into submission and confession.

To those accused, death is more welcome.

Saanich School Transportation

Criticisms of school bus transportation in School District No. 63 (Saanich) seem to be levelled at Mr. Sydney Pickles.

Such criticisms are not justified: The transportation committee, with Mr. Pickles as chairman, merely developed the bus schedule. The school board, after considering the same complaints being made today, and alternative schedules, unanimously approved and adopted the existing schedule.

There is special credit due to Mr. Pickles and his committee, in not favoring any particular area, such as Central Saanich, at the cost of the best interests of the school district as a whole.

The school board, in adopting the existing transportation schedule, was aware that certain parents were dissatisfied. To satisfy all parents, the school bus would either be diverted to isolated places for individual pick-ups, or be routed along narrow roads to the danger come as once the mind and will are broken by the merciless methods used, death is a welcome relief. Hence the abject almost, almost eager "confessions."

The present leaders of the Russian Communist party in Canada, otherwise known as L.P.P., would follow the same road if Stalin ever got control of the North American continent.

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

CLARIFICATION DUE

I was interested in the letter appearing in Saturday's issue, entitled "The Progressive Conservatives Strike Back." If it constitutes a statement of policy, it is not very definite or convincing, nor is it consistent.

The Hon. James Gardiner is condemned for his so-called "disastrous talents"—presumably farm price support—while the next paragraph goes all out for protection for the wage-earner.

In an inflated economy such as we now have, unorthodox methods have to be adopted to meet unorthodox conditions. As a Conservative, I have no hesitation in expressing admiration for the federal minister of agriculture who has had the courage and backbone to protect the livelihood of those engaged in the country's most important basic industry, and whose undoubted purpose in so doing, was to safeguard the nation's food supply and future trade position by maintaining our livestock and general farm economy during a loss of foreign markets.

It is time some clarification of P.C. is due, along agricultural lines, otherwise we can expect the "R. B. Bennett buggy" slogan or worse.

Paris Problems For Washington

By JOSEPH ALSOP, from Paris

ONE of the first things President Eisenhower will find on the White House doorstep is a really dire threat to his own great postwar handiwork, the defense of Western Europe. This threat takes the form of what may be called the Saigon-Paris-Bonn chain reaction. It has already engendered the kind of anti-American feeling in France that must be seen to be believed. It is entirely capable of bringing the whole N.A.T.O. structure crashing down into ruin.

To begin at the nearest end of the chain, the existing defense of Western Europe amounts to a 50-foot rope for drawing water from a 98-foot well. There are 50 divisions, ready and reserve, to do the work of 98 German divisions. They are urgently needed to complete a serious defense system.

The 12 German divisions which are West Germany's planned contribution are now to be provided within the framework of a European army and a European Defense Community. This is the expedient that was adopted two years ago, in order to cover the clumsiness of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's original proposal of German rearmament.

As a practical matter, the European Defense Community now equals the German divisions for N.A.T.O., plus a long step in the road to European unity and several other things as well. N.A.T.O. will get no German divisions if the participating nations refuse to ratify the treaties setting up the European Defense Community. Thus N.A.T.O. will be condemned to final failure before its work is more than half begun. That is the shortest way to worldwide disaster.

This need for an equal French contribution to the European army in turn extends our chain reaction to Saigon. In brief, the French are now engaged in Indo-China beyond their own strength and resources. They cannot make their European contribution and carry their Indo-Chinese burden without substantial American aid. They had been allowed to hope for $650,000,000 of such aid this year. In the end, they were offered only $325,000,000.

SUCCESS OR FAILURE

The difference in the two sums no doubt loomed small in the Pentagon. It loomed enormously in Paris, where it was the difference between success or failure in the defense of the franc, between doing or failing to do the needed jobs in Indo-China and Europe. The announcement of the cut in aid was what touched off the recent attacks on the United States by Prime Minister Pinay, President Vincent Auriol and others.

Adoption of a strict hands-off policy in North Africa and announcement of special Anglo-American guarantees against renewed German aggression are now both necessary steps.

The most important step, however, is to make sense in Washington about Indo-China. Hitherto, the State and Defense Departments have gone on the curious system of spending just barely enough in Indo-China to stave off a final Communist victory there. As a result, the cost has risen every year.

The time has now come to see whether bolder planning cannot really solve the Indo-Chinese problem. If the expense temporarily doubles, men and resources will still be saved by bolder planning in the long run.

Quite aside from the urgent, the really desperate need to obtain the German divisions for N.A.T.O., this new approach to Indo-China is just the sort of constructive new departure the Eisenhower administration ought to bring to the tired processes of American policymaking.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"It's a great thing," said the Elevator Man, "when you're establishing a traditional national custom to pick something that's pleasant and likely to be easy for posterity to follow. Of course most traditions aren't established on purpose. They just grow up and aren't recognized as traditions until it's too late to stop them."

There are exceptions, of course, like that college in the States that put up a sign on the courtyard lawn: "Starting next September it shall be a tradition of this college that no one shall walk across the lawn." That's writing history in advance.

But generally traditions are something you look back at and suddenly discover you've got. And often some unthinking forefather may have doomed you to a tradition you aren't very happy to have. Lower man!

"Take," said the Elevator Man, "for instance, the matter of haggis. That's a fine old Scottish tradition, as well as a mystery, a challenge, an adventure and a food. But the nature of the item doesn't commend itself to all Scotsmen, no matter how true they may be. The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak. And so you find the Duke of Edinburgh, who is Scottish only by reason of his title and his boyhood education, able to stand up at a dinner of the Edinburgh University Club in London and claim to have eaten more haggis than anybody else at his table. He even accused two Scots of coming to table late, waiting until the haggis had been served and eaten. You can't blame the boys for lingering in the cloakroom, perhaps munching a ham sandwich or a cracker, until the grand old tradition had been removed from the table, but you can blame the early Scots for setting such a pace for their successors to keep up with. Maybe the Scots in London are getting soft, but I'll bet many of them wish the tradition had been apple tart or bran muffins instead. Going down!"

"A man," said the Elevator Man, "who can eat haggis can stand pretty well anything, I guess. He'd never be a complainer like that fellow who said to his wife, 'Darling, this meat tastes like burnt leather.' 'Goodness, John,' says the wife, 'what strange things you've eaten in your life.'"

Rights and Duties Of Queen Explained

She Is Supreme in the Judiciary, Titular Head of Armed Services, Top Church Figure

Queens and princesses are often connected in the public mind with castles, courtiers and the pageantry of state ceremonies. There is more to their job than that. This story, one of a series, explains the rights and duties of the Queen in our constitutional monarchy.

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP)—Elizabeth II, Britain's sixth ruling queen and 40th sovereign since the Norman conquest, bears a crushing and inevitable burden.

Crowds who cheer her public appearances seldom think of the tremendous duties and responsibilities which history and tradition confer.

The Queen is more than a figurehead, despite the saying that in modern times the sovereign reigns but does not rule. She is the embodiment of an ideal developed by 1,000 years of struggle among the monarchy and nobles, parliament, church and people.

ANCIENT INSTITUTION

The monarchy is the United Kingdom's most ancient institution, its continuity broken only in Oliver Cromwell's time. There have been interruptions in the line of succession, but the hereditary principle is not abandoned. Elizabeth, for instance, is a descendant of a Saxon king, Egbert, who united all England in 829.

The Queen carries on a line unbroken for 250 years from George I. She has blood of Tudors and Yorks; kings of France and Spain; dukes of Normandy, Anjou and Saxony, and Charlemagne, King of the Franks. She is the first Queen to succeed her father in direct natural succession to the throne.

As the personification of the state, she is the supreme authority in law; head of the judiciary in England, Wales and Scotland; titular head of the army, navy and air force; head of the established Church of England, and nominally sole representative of the nation in international affairs.

PARAMOUNT AUTHORITY

She may send ambassadors and ministers abroad and receive those from foreign countries. She alone can enter into treaties, declare war, make peace. As paramount authority in the kingdom, she summons, prorogues and dissolves parliament. Her assent is required before any bill becomes law.

In royal terms, she is the "founder of honor, the fountain of justice, the fountain of mercy," attributes which are reflected in various phases of the Coronation next June.

She has many incidental rights. All treasure trove is her exclusive property, as are whales and sturgeon caught in territorial waters and white swans in open rivers. She decides when salutes are to be fired, what the royal arms should be, and has sole right of printing the Bible, book of common prayer and state documents.

The royal will is expressed in many ways—by orders-in-council; by order, commission of warrant under the sign manual; and by proclamation, writs, patents, letters or other documents under the Great Seal, affixed by the Lord Chancellor in obedience to a royal warrant countersigned by a minister.

WELL-INFORMED RULER

Although sovereignty is exercised by the Queen in Parliament, rather than by the Queen in person, ministerial responsibility does not detract from the sovereign's participation in the smooth functioning of government. The Queen must be informed on every aspect of na-knows that on reaching 60 or 65 years of age he is free to retire and spend the rest of his life growing roses. But the sovereign, short of abdication, must remain a sovereign to the end."

Jehovah's Witnesses Jam Ottawa Hearing

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (BUP)—Scores of Jehovah's Witnesses adherents swarmed into the Supreme Court today to follow argument in the sect's appeal against a Quebec City by-law prohibiting distributing of literature without a license.

Chief Justice Thibault said that if the court room became any more crowded, the case might have to be moved to the Ottawa auditorium, scene of hockey games, ice reviews, and boxing matches.

The court rejected a request by the sect's Toronto attorney,

W. Glen How, to permit H. C. Covington of New York and Texas to address the court, but was permitted only to sit in the court room to advise how.

The sect is appealing to have the Quebec City law ruled ultra vires. More than 800 members of the sect have been arrested for distributing literature without licenses from local police.

Champion engineers estimate that 100 hours of operation of a tractor is equivalent to 4,000 to 5,000 miles on a passenger car. Farmers are advised to clean, adjust and check spark plugs after 100 hours' use, and to change them every 200 hours.

ISLAND DIGEST

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 11—Alberni M.L.A. John Squire has taken up the protest of West Coast fishermen who are opposed to the R.C.A.F. using Florence Rock as a target during bombing practice. The fishermen declare the rock is a feeding ground for salmon, and that bombing in that vicinity is having a detrimental effect on both the fishing and crab industries.

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 11—Ald. W. C. Hamilton, seeking re-election to city council, is campaigning to a cemetery.

A veteran in civic politics, Ald. Hamilton declared at a public meeting here that it was time Port Alberni had a place of its own for burying its dead. Cemetery used now is the Greenwood Cemetery in neighboring Alberni.

NANAIMO, Dec. 11—Gordon Border, 23, former Vancouver man, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment after pleading guilty to possession of narcotics before Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts in police court here. An extra two months' sentence will be required if Border fails to pay the $200 fine levied as an additional penalty.

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 11—Persons in the Alberni provincial riding are uniting to press for immediate survey of the proposed road link between Alberni and Tofino, following receipt of word from the B.C. public works department that the job will have to wait because of the present shortage of surveyors. John Squire, C.C.F. M.L.A. for the district, is organizing the newest move for early action on the road survey.

UCLUELET, Dec. 11—Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, of Salt Spring Island, came to this west coast island settlement to assist his son, Rev. A. Holmes at the formal opening of the new St. Aidan's-on-the-Hill Anglican Church. Other ministers attending the service, held last Sunday, were Rev. G. Stevenson, of Alberni, and Rev. J. W. Leighton, chaplain of the Mission to Seamen, Vancouver.

CAMPBELL RIVER, Dec. 11—Elk River Timber Company has closed down its entire operation here, and is given no indication as to what it plans for the future. Company officials said a combination of weather, high costs and lower prices for logs were reasons for the shutdown. Elk River employed about 425 men. It is a subsidiary of Scott Paper of Everett, Wash.

CAMPBELL RIVER, Dec. 11—Work on the John Hart power dam has been curtailed considerably since the T.L.C. Union of Operating Engineers threw an information picket line around the project.

The union, although not certified, is attempting to negotiate a work contract with Campbell Bennett Ltd., contractors for the dam. Sixty men have refused to cross the picket line.

NANAIMO, Dec. 11—Roy Lindley, of Victoria, was sentenced to two years for theft of a traveling bag when he appeared in police court here. E. E. Reed, also of Victoria, is to be tried in County Court here for retaining goods stolen from a bag of a Vancouver salesman.

DUNCAN, Dec. 11—Date for the annual meeting of the Cowichan Agricultural Society has been fixed for Saturday, Jan. 31. Meeting will be held in the armory.

The Agricultural Society here has given full support to a resolution sponsored by a farmers' institute group in the interior, asking the provincial government to take over the licensing of dentists.

FULFORD HARBOR, Dec. 11—Two skeletons, believed to be the remains of an Indian man and woman, were discovered here after last Tuesday's gale caused a shoreline bank to wash away.

Yule Party Ban Called Civil Service Insult

The Social Credit government is insulting the integrity of civil servants by forbidding them their annual Christmas office parties, Progressive Conservative leader Deane Finlayson told the Saanich P.C. Association Thursday night.

The young leader rapped the government for its "false economy and unfair treatment of employees."

"I know of a case in the interior where a public health nurse will be denied the privilege of giving an annual tea party in her office because of this ridiculous order. And I imagine if anyone disobeys it, there will be disciplinary action taken," he said.

Mr. Finlayson also criticized the ban on private use of government cars by civil servants.

"I know of a case on the mainland where a government employee walks to work and back a mile and a half, four times a day, because he is not allowed to use the government car. He passes his own home to get the car back to the garage at lunch time, then has to walk home," the Tory chieftain said.

The provincial government's hospital budget freeze order means the cost of deficits will be forced back on the municipalities, Mr. Finlayson said.

"The municipalities are in a difficult financial position already without having added costs forced upon them," said Mr. Finlayson.

When the municipalities have to start making grants to hospitals to cover deficits, "the taxpayers will really be forced to pay as they go," he said.

CHILDREN BRING GIFTS TO NEEDY

Needy Victoria families will be aided by the traditional "white gift," Christmas custom of Christian churches.

Youngsters brought white gifts of foodstuffs to a concert given by the junior group of First United Church Wednesday night. Gifts will be turned over to the free food stall in the public market, for distribution Dec. 20.

Children at View Royal Sunday school are to follow a similar program.

Elan Centre to Have Month of Christmas

The Christmas season at the Elan Centre near Duncan is a long affair designed to suit the tastes of all nationalities. It started a week ago and will continue for a month.

Miss Dorothy Punderson, head of the centre for "Education for Living Among Nations," explained that the centre is celebrating Christmas in the traditions of various nations. The first of these was feted in the Dutch tradition last Saturday, she said.

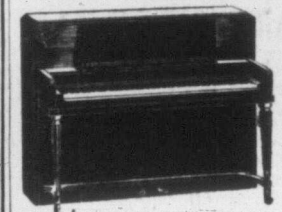

Other celebrations are as follows: Scandinavian Christmas rites December 13; English ceremony of the Hanging of the Greens, Dec. 14; western frontier Christmas, Dec. 20; children's carol Christmas, Dec. 21; Hanukkah, the Jewish celebration, Dec. 23; Revereillon, Dec. 24; English American Christmas dinner, Dec. 25; Spanish Christmas, Dec. 21; Italian Christmas, Dec. 29; Watch Night, Dec. 31; New Year Open House, Jan. 1; high school party, Jan. 2; Twelfth Night. Feasts of the Kings, burning of the greens, Jan. 6.

CANADA'S POPULATION MAY BE

30 MILLION BY 1975

... FUTURE DEPENDS ON INVESTMENT OF SAVINGS says Dominion Bank President

Canada's national income has again achieved a new peak. The physical volume of production has also broken all records. The 1952 crop of wheat and coarse grains has surpassed that of any previous year. Export trade has been greater than ever before, both in dollar value and in physical volume. Capital investment in new plant and equipment has established a new record. Retail sales have been buoyant. The cost of living is much the same as it was a year ago. This means that the Canadian people are now living more comfortably than ever before.

The current rate of population growth is striking evidence of the faith which native-born Canadians, and new Canadians coming from abroad, have in this country's future. During the past twelve months the number of persons in Canada increased by no less than three per cent—a high rate of growth. If this rate of population increase is maintained, Canada will have nearly 30 million people by 1975—twice as many as at present.

Unfortunately, there are influences at work which mitigate against this. During the next few years family formation resulting from new marriages is likely to be at a lower rate than in the recent past. Another factor is Canada's lack of a positive and expansive immigration programme. This lack in a country as wealthy and underpopulated as Canada, is to be deplored on both social and economic grounds.

Canada has ample space for a larger population. There can be comfort and economic security for all. But we can only have comfort and security if we work for them. We must continue to save and invest on a substantial, indeed, an increasing scale. We must keep up the present rate of technological progress. We can do this, if we have the will. I am confident that, in the days to come, Canadians will achieve a living standard much higher than that to which we are now accustomed.

The strength of the Canadian dollar in the foreign exchange markets during the past year has been a source of pride to most Canadians. But for some of our largest and most important industries—mining, pulp, newspaper and lumbering—it has also been a source of real embarrassment. Therefore, I think we should regard as a healthy influence the recent lessening of the foreign exchange premium on our currency. A considerable volume of consumer purchasing power within this country is still dependent on sales of our export industries. To-day, Canada markets abroad one-fifth of her total output.

The inward flow of capital from abroad which has been a marked feature of our economy since 1950 has made a substantial contribution to Canada's industrial expansion. But the proportion of new capital investment financed with funds from outside has not been as large as many people think. Canadians have subscribed from their own savings nearly four dollars for each dollar invested in Canada by non-residents.

The discount on U.S. Dollars has enlarged the outward flow of capital from Canada, so that no one yet knows accurately the relative importance of these two movements this year. It will not be surprising if for the whole of 1952 the inward and outward flows nearly neutralize one another, leaving only a small net improvement.

Since the net movement of capital this year will be small, it is apparent that the continuing inflow of capital has not been mainly responsible for the Canadian dollar selling at a premium in New York. The principal reason has been the improvement in our merchandise trade position.

During the past four years, while Canadians were saving 8½ cents out of every dollar of personal income, the people of Britain—faced with unprecedented need for the rebuilding and modernization of plant, equipment and housing—could only save one cent out of each dollar, due to the character and burden of taxation. Practically all of British investment during the postwar period has come from government funds and from corporate savings. In these fields also the rate of savings in the United Kingdom has been somewhat less than in Canada.

We Canadians may learn much from the present plight of Britain. The load of taxes which burdens us is less heavy than the load burdening the British people. The fiscal system here is less harmful toward enterprise than the fiscal system in Britain.

For long years past, even in Canada, there has been an immoderate growth in the cost of government. There has been a tendency to penalize risk-taking and enterprise. The marvel is that our Canadian economy, nevertheless, now grows as fast as it does. The danger is that if we continue to discourage effort and enterprise, we may seriously retard the rate of our growth.

Canada is rich in resources. The long-term prospects are bright. Developments now under way will increase greatly the range and volume of materials which the world needs and must have, and which Canada will be able to supply at fair and competitive prices. If risk-taking and enterprise are encouraged, if Canadians are given an incentive to save and invest, Canada will continue to move forward to greater achievements.

ASSETS AND DEPOSITS OF DOMINION BANK TREBLED IN 12 YEARS says General Manager

The 32nd Annual Statement which I have the pleasure to present shows the greatest annual growth in the history of the Bank. Assets and deposits are at a peak level. Total assets exceed half a billion dollars for the first time, amounting to $517,836,558, an increase of $59,235,755 for the year. Healthy expansion has been experienced in all phases of the Bank's operation.

The past 12 years have been a period of substantial progress for the bank. In this period assets and deposits have more than trebled.

This year net profits were $1,158,556 after setting aside $575,224 for depreciation of premises and equipment and $1,315,000 for Dominion and Provincial taxes—up $125,000 from last year.

The already heavy tax burden became more onerous during the year. Dominion and provincial taxes absorbing 33 per cent of net income.

The Bank's profit margin is low. Net profit this year was equivalent to 0.24% on average assets throughout the year whereas the rate in 1939 was 0.51%.

A new year-end high was recorded in total loans of $233,300,000—an increase of $8,000,000 over 1951. Total deposits by the public at the end of the fiscal year amount to $457,000,000, an increase of $58,000,000.

The increase in deposits is clear evidence that Canadians appreciate the value of thrift. This is reflected not only in the larger volume of savings entrusted to us for safekeeping but also in a healthy increase in the number of savings accounts at all branches.

Deposits are active dollars. From coast to coast Dominion Bank dollars are busy each day helping Canada to grow and creating new jobs for Canadians.

The Bank's holdings of Dominion, provincial and municipal bonds represent dollars lent to finance improvements which make Canadian communities better places in which to live.

The principal channel of investment for deposit dollars is commercial loans. They help little and big business to expand and thus makes jobs for Canadians. They assist enterprising individuals to start their own business. Such loans make a real contribution to the country as a whole.

Shareholders now number 3,083. Of the outstanding shares, 77.5% are held in Canada, 16% in Great Britain and 6.7% in other countries. The average Canadian shareholder owns 200 shares which indicates that most of the capital stock is in the hands of small investors.

Business in Canada is booming. During the first six months of 1952 business in Canada should be reasonably good but beyond that prospects are difficult to assess. A continually rising level of business activity is unlikely. While it is only prudent to expect occasional set-backs, the long-term outlook for Canada remains favourable.

ARMISTICE ANTICIPATED IN MINOR HOCKEY RUCKUS

The cold war between the Victoria Minor Hockey Association, the Commercial Hockey League and the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association may be approaching a truce.

Ivan Temple of Victoria, president of the Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey Association, has wired Dr. Larry Giovando, B.C.A.H.A. president, requesting a meeting in Victoria to end the dispute of the playing eligibility of Jack Milburn, former Nanaimo juvenile now playing with Individual Cleaners of the Commercial Hockey League.

Temple requested that Giovando sanction a meeting of all parties concerned over the question of Milburn's suspension, handed out by the B.C.A.H.A. last year for allegedly attacking a referee and recently evoked. The latter incident caused two members of the V.M.H.A. to resign.

WHAT SAY BRANCH?

Haney Willing to Take Pirate Post

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11 (AP)—Fred Haney, skipper of the successful Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League, put it squarely up to general manager Branch Rickey of Pittsburgh Pirates today whether he will sign as Pirate manager.

After flying here from the west coast for a meeting with Rickey, Haney was asked bluntly if he will sign with the last-place Pirates. He said:

"If Mr. Rickey wants me to do it, I may. It's up to him. I would do it for him, because I feel I owe him an obligation for helping my Hollywood team."
Rickey invited Haney to his palatial suburban home for a morning conference.

Since Bill Meyer quit as manager of the Pirates at the end of the 1952 season, Haney has been prominently mentioned for the job of trying to lead the Pirates out of the National League cellar. Rickey has known Haney for years.

When Rickey was in the front office of Brooklyn Dodgers he sent several players to Hollywood. Rickey has done the same with Pirate players. Haney has profited. He won the Coast League pennant in 1949 and in 1952.

TO WORK WITH YANKEES

Edmonton Buys Morgan, Conant

EDMONTON, Dec. 11 (CP)—The Edmonton Baseball Club will have a "working association" with the major league champion New York Yankees in its debut in the Class A Western International League next season.

In announcing this association, Wednesday, club spokesman John Ducey reported that Edmonton has purchased eight players as a nucleus, six of them from the Yankee chain.

Ducey also said the Edmonton club likely will open its spring training camp at Hanford, Calif., in the last week of March. The Edmonton and Calgary entries in the W.I.L. probably will play pre-season exhibition games.

Renfrew Park, home of the Edmonton club, now has a seating capacity of 4,350, but Ducey said this will be developed to a capacity of 6,000.

Players purchased from the Yankees are right-handed pitcher Jack Widner, with Binghamton of the Eastern league last season; short-stop Whitey Thompson, from Beaumont of the Texas league; outfielder Lou Vitos, from Boise of the Pioneer circuit; catcher Dick Morgan, also from Beaumont; catcher Harry Eastwood, from Binghamton, and shortstop Gil Trejo, also from Boise.

Purchased outright was right-handed pitcher John Conant from Spokane Indians of the W.I.L. Edmonton got another right-handed chucker, Larry Manier, from the Pittsburgh Pirates on a provisional reporting and 30-day tryout basis.

Ducey said playing manager Bob Sturgeon, who saw major league service with Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves, will open the season at second base.

Punjab United Play in Seattle

Seattle soccer partisans are in store for a treat, Saturday when Punjab United travel to the American city to meet a squad "from the University of Washington in an exhibition game."

United, the only soccer team on the North American continent comprised entirely of East Indians, have been playing exhibition games in the junior league in Victoria this season. They turned in their best game of the season Sunday by defeating Tillamook, 2-1.

Two games for the bantam division of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association are on tap Saturday morning.

Bruins and Capitals will meet at 8 while Royals and Senators do battle one hour later.

Fisher Hero As Hershey Trips Barons

By British United Press
Little Dunc Fisher may have been unappreciated in Boston but he's every inch a hero in Hershey today.

The 25-year-old Fisher, sent down to the American Hockey League by the Bruins at the conclusion of last season, plunked in an over-time goal at 3:17 Wednesday night to give Hershey a 3-2 victory over the pace-setting Cleveland Barons.

Fisher's goal and the resultant triumph moved the Bears within three points of the Barons. Syracuse took over sole possession of fourth place with a 5-2 division over Pittsburgh. Leo Curick paced the Warrior attack with a pair of goals.

Buffalo broke into the victory column for the first time in 10 games by punishing Providence, 5-0. Bison goalie Red McAtee registered his second shutout of the campaign.

In a turkey medal round Sunday, Frank Scroggs was low cross winner with a 70, while Dawson also took home a turkey for his 67. Other turkey winners were C. J. Robertson and Frank Jeffrey who carded 69 and 70, respectively. Sam Keeble won the consolation award when his card was drawn from 50 others.

AUSTRALIAN WICKETS STICKY

Cricket That Isn't

BY GAYLE TALBOT

BRISBANE, Dec. 11 (AP)—So you go halfway round the world to report a parcel of tennis and what do you run smack into?—A cricket tempest.

Occasion of the widespread unhappiness is the test match between Australia and South Africa.

To begin with, the Aussie selectors didn't pick a single player from the state of Queensland, of which Brisbane is the capital city.

That made Brisbane aficionados sore at the outset, and they've vented their feeling by staying away in vast numbers.

That in turn appears to have nettled the Aussie players and they've responded by putting on the dullest exhibition in the history of cricket.

One of them Tuesday scored only 17 runs in an hour and 50 minutes.

If you've never endured cricket, that's roughly comparable to a baseball player purposely fouling off about 40 pitches in succession.

A scorching cartoon in a local paper shows king cricket on his deathbed from "cricket that isn't cricket" among other ailments.

The official cricket club chased one news photographer out of the grounds and banned society writers from the members' stand.

Still some tricky strategy continues out there on the playing field.

In incident in Tuesday's play would seem to indicate that cricketers need no lessons from fellows such as Chuck Dessen in the art of signal stealing.

"Ian Johnson," a newspaper account says, "bowed his variant leg break to Waite, who overbalanced for a split second and was brilliantly stumped by Langley."

"When Johnson bowls this ball he uses a different shoulder action which causes him to grunt."

"The English batsmen two years ago began to pick the leg break from the grunt."

"So, Johnson now grunts when bowling some of his off spinners, too."

"Such are the tactics of test cricket."

Replacements, Drugs Keep Cycles on Ice

Injuries never stop the show when Ice Cycles of 1953 are performing... a combination of a wonder drug and a replacement system ensures that the production does not falter, once on the ice.

One girl out of every four is carried as a substitute... skating can be dangerous. Most accidents come from the sharp skate-blades or from the four sharp teeth on the front of the blade which are used in stopping and spinning. A misplaced foot, especially in some of the precision skating close formations can easily cause "spiking."

Most of the hurts are received without the audience being aware and the injured performer slips out of place and leaves the ice. The replacement is made as quietly as possible. Hardly anyone is aware of the switch.

There is a registered trained nurse with the show at all times who dispenses healing magic in the form of a wonder treatment for sprains. Torn ligaments and occasionally a fracture, also occur, and a local doctor takes over in these cases.

The drug, known as ethyl chloride is essentially a pain killer. It is sprayed on the injury and has a swift cooling effect, which acts like a local anesthetic. It breaks up the muscle and nerve circuit which causes the pain and the resultant inability to use the muscle or joints involved.

When ethyl chloride is sprayed on an injury a skater can return to the ice almost immediately, but it does not affect the condition of the injured tissue beyond relieving pain. Sprained ankles, however usually affect only one set of ligaments, out of three that connect the foot and leg. When all ligaments are torn a plaster cast is used.

Ice Cycle authorities don't expect there will be any injuries during their seven performances at the Memorial Arena, January 12 to 17, but if there are, in all likelihood the audience will not likely know of it.

Strenuous acts like that of high-kicking Shirley Winters often cause sprains for Ice Cycles of 1953 performers, but thanks to a new wonder drug the injured skaters get quick relief.

Arts Centre Brings Famed Quartet Here

BY AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

One of the three or four tip-top string ensembles of their type in the world, the Paganini Quartet has an exalted repertoire upon which to draw in making up their programs.

The finest utterances of the musical giants are contained in their chamber compositions. In all art, perfection is the rarest of the rare, yet Beethoven, Brahms, Haydn, Mozart, Schubert, sought and found perfection time and again in these most compact and pure forms.

The Paganini Quartet, which takes its name from the four fabulous instruments that once belonged to the equally fabulous 19th century virtuoso, will appear in recital in Victoria High School auditorium, Saturday.

The Arts Centre of Greater Victoria, inspired by the brilliant success of the two previous Paganini concerts—last year's was sold out, with standing room in demand—is again sponsoring the event. Tickets may be obtained from the Arts Centre, Moss Street, or at Fletcher's music store.

For Saturday's program, the quartet has selected Haydn's Quartet No. 5 in D major; Beethoven No. 4 in C minor, Op. 18, and veering away from the purely classical, Smetana's "From My Life."

This latter deserves a special word, for it has an appealing background.

Smetana, like Beethoven, began to go deaf about the age of 50. Deeply stirred by this tragedy, he wrote the quartet (which is in E minor) as a summation of his life and the forces which motivated him.

"In a sense," he explained, "the music is private and therefore written for four instruments, which should converse together in an intimate circle about the things that so deeply trouble me."

The first movement, the composer has described as depicting "my early love of art and native folk music..." The second, a polka, "recalls memories of my gay life in youth." The beautiful slow third, "the bliss of my first love for the girl who afterwards became my faithful wife," and

WE'LL BE THERE TOO—Possibly except for the outbreak of war or an "act of God" it is doubtful if there will be a greater happening in the new year than the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. Not only is this ceremony of pomp and pageantry of huge news significance but it is, of course, also history.

Until only recently in these magical, if hectic, times of ours only the peers of the realm and invited nobility were allowed to witness the crowning of a monarch. And certainly only those with the wherewithal could journey across the seas even to watch the royal procession pass by.

Now, however, it is a different story. Granted it isn't the same, one can only imagine the hustle and bustle, the general excitement and spine-tingling exhilaration that comes from being a part of the vast throngs gathered along the route. But, thanks to the magic of the moving picture camera, for less than a dollar, all of us can watch history in the making. We can follow the queen even into the hallowed precincts of the Abbey.

All this was assured recently when British film magnate J. Arthur Rank announced that there will be a full-length feature film of the Coronation by Technicolor, including the actual ceremony in Westminster Abbey.

The film, according to Mr. Rank, is being produced by Castleton Knight whose earlier pictures include "Theirs is the Glory" (the story of Arnhem) and the Technicolor films of "Victor's" finale, "my joy in discovering how to treat Bohemian national elements in my music... my success in this direction until the interruption of the terrible catastrophe, the beginning of deaf-

Christine Jorgensen Plans Personal Appearance Tour

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 11 (AP)

Christine Jorgensen, the 26-year-old American girl photographer who used to be a man, plans to make a personal appearance tour of the United States to exhibit the color movie she has made of Denmark.

The curvaceous blonde, whose sex was changed by medical science, said Wednesday that she plans to leave for New York Dec. 22 and presumably will be home for Christmas with her parents in their Bronx home.

She confirmed she had received an offer to star in a new Hollywood movie, but denied she already had signed to appear in the picture and make personal stage appearances with it.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE RECORD TO DATE, 1952—2,221.3 HOURS

SYNOPSIS: An active Pacific storm brought rain and strong winds to the coast of B.C. this morning. The rain will continue through the day at most stations becoming showery by evening. Gale warnings are out for all coastal waters.

Cloud is spreading to the interior in advance of the storm. Snow flurries were expected later in the day as the disturbance moves inland. Increased cloud cover will result in milder overnight temperatures.

Another storm in the current series is expected to bring rain to the coast again Friday.

DOMINION PUBLIC WEATHER OFFICE 9 A.M. FORECASTS

Schuman Plan Supreme Court Established

LUXEMBOURG, Dec. 11 (Reuters)—Western Europe has sworn in its first universal "Supreme Court"—seven judges who will arbitrate disputed rulings of six-nation Schuman plan for pooling coal and steel resources.
Any member of the coal and steel pool—Italy, France, Belgium, West Germany, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—can appeal to the court against decisions made by the pool's high authority.
Member states and the high authority itself can appeal against rulings made by the Schuman plan "parliament."
There is one justice from each member country, plus an extra one from The Netherlands.
Junior's temper tantrums may start when he is about two years old, when he first discovers that he is an individual with decisions of his own to make. If the tantrum is really serious, a short time spent alone may help him get over it, but he should never be put into a dark place or one that he fears.

B.C. Bulb Growers Urging Quota on Dutch Imports

The B.C. Bulb Growers' Federation wants the federal government to establish a control whereby the importation of bulbs from Holland is placed on a quota basis.

This was one of the resolutions unanimously endorsed by the federation at a recent annual convention at Aldergrove.

The bulb growers feel that a system of controls would check the indiscriminate importation of bulbs and would give the B.C. bulb industry an opportunity to establish itself on a sound footing.

Capt. C. R. Wilson of Saanich was elected president of the federation at the meeting. R. McComber, Aldergrove, was elected vice-president; Frederick Conconi, Saanichton, secretary. Directors are W. H. McNally, Geoffrey Vantreight Jr., Ray Woolridge and J. Houlihan of Saanichton; Joseph Everett, Port Kells, and James Carmichael of Bradner.

One benefit the Japanese—a non-member—have derived from the United Nations is a taste for air-conditioning. Carrier units which cool the U.N. headquarters building in New York will be features in five modern buildings in Tokyo and Osaka.

Justice Suggests R.C.N. Tighten Its Discipline

HALIFAX, Dec. 11 (CP)—Magistrate R. E. Inglis says the navy needs to tighten up on discipline in the Halifax area.

Sentencing a rating Wednesday to two years' suspended sentence for committing damage, Magistrate Inglis said: "We've had more trouble in the last six months with sailors than we've had in the six years after the war. I don't think the fault lies with the boys themselves. I think a little tightening up by the responsible authorities is what is needed."

Brink's Robbers in 'Arzonra' Says Famous 'Talking' Horse

BOSTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Note to the F.B.I.: Lady Wonder, that Richmond, Va., "talking" horse, says the Brink's robbers—those guys who took $1,219,000 in a spectacular Boston job three years ago—are in Arizona.

Lady was just a bit off in her spelling when she "nosed" the answer to a question put to her by a representative of the Boston Traveler. She came up with "Arzonra" but her owner, Mrs. Claudia H. Fonda, says she often misspels.

Just where in Arizona the bad men will be found wasn't for Lady to say.

Dorothy Howarth, reporter for the Toronto Telegram, interviewed Lady Wonder.

Among the information Miss Howarth gleaned from an interview with the prophetic mare, told in a copyright front-page story Wednesday, was:

"Ambrose Small was murdered . . . Mickey McDonald is dead. Canada will have an election next year. The Liberals will win it. Edwin Alonzo Boyd will not try another jail break. The Korean war will end in 13 months and I'll be married in a year's time."

Ambrose Small was a Toronto theatre owner whose disappearance in 1919 has never been solved. Mickey McDonald, long viewed as Canada's No. 1 criminal, escaped from Kingston Penitentiary August 14, 1947. Boyd did the same thing in a minor way by escaping from Toronto's Don Jail a couple of times in recent years.

Ford's New Line Makes Debut in Victoria

BY DON INGHAM

A few years ago the Ford Motor Company had a slogan, "Watch the Fords Go By."

Most drivers did. They watched them go by and out of sight, well in front.

In fact, ever since the first Ford V-8 made its appearance March 31, 1932, this car has been noted for exceptional performance and low cost.

The same snap and "ginger" that was put into the first V-8's are still there in even more generous quantities, but is spread throughout a line of four distinctive and luxurious cars that feature all the latest developments in appearance, operation and economy.

By Friday all four of the company's 1953 models, will be on display in Victoria. The Meteor and Mercury were unveiled at Gladwell Motors Limited today, and the Ford and Monarch will make their debut Friday in newly-decorated showrooms at National Motors Limited.

FEW CHANGES MADE

Company officials admit quite frankly that there are few changes in this year's models, the most noticeable being increased visibility, new springs, individually designed to suit each model, and a metering device on the carburetor that automatically adjusts fuel mixture to suit conditions of acceleration and engine load.

"The rest of the trade has not yet caught up to Ford and Monarch improvements of last year," said National Motors sales manager Peter Whittlesey. "We have the only car in the field with fiberglass insulation, a one-piece curved windshield, and foam rubber cushions."

At Gladwell Motors, Walter Masdele, sales manager, said the company is proud of its 20 years of experience in building V-8 motors.

"Since 1932 the company has built 30,000,000 of these compact and efficient engines," he said. "The trend in the industry is toward the V-8, yet we believe the company's long experience with them cannot be matched."

GRAPHIC COMPARISON

(That number of motors, by the way, would develop a total of three billion horsepower, or the equivalent of 300 John Hart Developments, and would reach from Victoria to Valparaiso and back—via Panama.)

Fords and Meteors are available with both 110 and 120-horsepower engines, while the Monarch and Mercury power plants have 125-horsepower units.

Both Monarch and Mercury feature automatic transmissions as optional equipment that combine a gear train and torque converter to give what the company calls the best and most efficient "clutchless" drive on the market. Smooth, smart and swank—they have all the old zip of the first V-8's and the style that has made them pace-setters in the low-priced field since 1949.

NO LICENSE NEEDED

HOLDREGE, Neb. (UP)—"You hunting?" the game warden asked Warner Lundeen who admitted he was. He said his license was tacked on the wall of his office. The warden then went through Lundeen's car and found nothing, not even a gun. "Oh," explained Lundeen, "I'm hunting for a farm."

BIG CHIEF GOT HEAP BIG BILL

VANCOUVER, Dec. 11 (CP)

A northern British Columbia Indian chief believes in doing things in the grand manner.

When a writ of habeas corpus arrived at his small village of Topley ordering him to produce his three grandchildren in a court custody case here, Chief J. Daniel Leon bundled them into a taxicab and set off.

Some 700 miles later the chief was presented with a bill of $395.

Court Halts Further Ship Claims

SEATTLE, Dec. 11 (AP)—A federal court order was granted Wednesday staying further filing of claims against the Canadian Pacific Railway until a hearing is held to determine whether the company has to pay claims resulting from the sinking of the steamship Princess Kathleen.

The Kathleen grounded near Juneau early September 7 with 425 passengers and crew members aboard. All were taken safely off before the vessel slipped off a reef and sank. The company said the ship now is a total loss.

The Canadian Pacific said it believes claims for freight loss and passenger fares will exceed $335,000.

The company deposited $69,504 with the court to cover its estimate of freight and passenger freight and fare losses if it is found liable. A date for the hearing has not been set.

THE CAINE MUTINY

Forty-fifth installment from the book THE CAINE MUTINY, copyright, 1951, by Herman Wouk. Distributed by Doubleday Syndicate.

The little yeoman in whites said tonelessly, "You aren't aware then that all the officers of the Caine habitually referred to you as Old Yellowston?"

Queeg's head was down between his shoulders, and he squinted up at the air in front of him. He suddenly looked much more familiar to Maryk. "I am not aware of it."

"Commander," said Greenwald, "how many fitness reports did you write on Lieutenant Maryk, disregarding the one after he relieved you?"

"Two, I believe."

"One in January, and one in July?"

"That is correct."

"Do you remember their contents?"

"Well, they weren't bad fitness reports, as I recall."

"Did you give him the highest classification—outstanding in both of them?"

"Well, that was at the beginning, I may have."

"Photostats of the reports are available to refresh your memory, Commander."

"I can say definitely, yes, I was still classifying him as outstanding that early in the game."

"Did you state in your report of July 1 that he was qualified for command?"

"Well, as I say, he started off like a house afire. If you want to know how he ended up why don't you bring up his last fitness report?"

"You wrote that report, Commander, did you not, after he relieved you on the grounds of mental illness?"

"That made no difference at all," exclaimed Queeg, with a touch of the old nasal voice. "The fitness report is not an instrument of retaliation or revenge—not in my hands, it isn't!"

"No further questions at this time," Greenwald turned to the court. "Commander Queeg will be called as a witness for the defense." The eyebrows of the president signaled astonishment followed by resignation. Queeg was excused. He walked out of the room hurriedly.

"Call Lieut. Thomas Keefer," said Challee. The novelist came marching in, shoulders thrown back, head tilted a little to one side, his eyes looking blankly ahead.

Challee brushed through the opening questions in a monotone; then said, "Now, Lieut. Keefer, coming to the morning of December 18, will you describe how you learned that the captain had been relieved?"

"Mr. Maryk passed the word for all officers to lay up to the wheelhouse. When we got there he told us that the captain was sick and he had assumed command."

"Did Captain Queeg show any external signs of being sick?"

"Well," Keefer shifted in his seat and for a moment encountered Maryk's painfully intense glance. Maryk looked away angrily. "Well, I have to say that at the height of a typhoon nobody aboard a four-piper looks very well. He was wet, and tired, and very tense-looking—"

"Was he raving, or foaming, or giving any other common indications of insanity?"

"No."

"Did he speak incoherently or gibberingly when he protested being relieved?"

"No, he spoke clearly."

"What was your response to Maryk's announcement?"

"Well, things were happening very fast and in a confused way. Captain Queeg was talking to us when the capsized George Black was sighted. Maryk began to maneuver to pick up survivors and for an hour that was all any one thought about."

"Did you make any effort to persuade Maryk to restore Queeg to command?"

"I did not."

"Were you next senior officer to Maryk?"

"I was."

"Lieutenant Keefer, were you aboard the Caine throughout the period when Captain Queeg was in command?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever observe evidences of insanity in him?"

"No."

"Keefer hesitated, wetted his lips, and looked toward Maryk, who was gnawing a knuckle and staring out of the window at the sunlit trees. "I don't—I can't answer that question intelligently, not being a psychiatrist."

Challee said sternly, "Mr. Keefer, if you saw a man rolling on the deck and foaming at the mouth, or rushing up and down passageways screaming that a tiger was after him, would you venture to say that that man was temporarily deranged?"

"I would."

"Did Commander Queeg ever exhibit such behavior?"

"No. Nothing like that."

"Mr. Keefer," said the judge advocate, "at any time prior to 18 December were you informed that Maryk suspected Queeg of being mentally ill?"

"Yes."

"Describe how you learned this fact."

"At Ulithi, about two weeks before the typhoon, Maryk showed me a medical log he'd kept on Queeg's behavior."

"Did you inform the captain of Maryk's log?"

"I did not."

"Why not?"

"It would have been disloyal and contrary to the best interests of the ship to stir up my captain against my executive officer. Maryk had evidently abandoned his intention to pursue the matter."

"No further questions," Challee nodded at Greenwald. The defense counsel rose. "No questions." All seven members of the court turned to look at Greenwald. Blakely, his eyebrows at maximum altitude, said, "Does the defense intend to recall the witness at a later time?"

"No, sir."

"No cross-examination?"

"No, sir."

Blakely beckoned to the judge advocate and whispered with him, then said, "No further questions. Witness excused."

Keefer stepped down, turned, and walked out rapidly. Maryk looked after him with a small, dismal smile.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

I am much relieved to learn it is highly unlikely I will ever suffer from backaches.

Yesterday's paper told me:

The Doctor Says:
ESSENTIAL KNOWLEDGE
CAUSE OF BACKACHES

The talking horse down Richmond way seems to have started something.
The morning paper claims "FISH TALKS CONTINUE."
Wonder what fish talk about?

My current nomination for the most candid Christmas radio commercial of the year goes to a local hardware firm, which announced a "full selection of ideal Christmas gifts, as well as useful articles."

A headline says "Heartbeats Help Whale-Hunters."
About 72 to the minute would help almost anybody.

An anecdote published in the Christmas Herald proves once again that the English language is loaded with double meanings.

Describing a conversation between a layman and a minister, the anecdote tells us that after a statement by the layman, "the preacher stopped dead in his tracks."

The confirmed lunch-player could have made a clean-up in the fifth at Tanforan yesterday.

Finishing one-two-three were: Dancing Honey, Hug-Me-Tight, and Play Hooky.

Mrs. Robert Mayhew, wife of Canada's new ambassador to Japan, has been the recipient of many well-deserved honors in the past few weeks.

Yesterday, the Society Page reports: "A corsage was presented to Mrs. Mayhew with a water color pastel of Mt. Baker."

Sounds charming, although perhaps a little bulky to wear at the shoulder.

Penny-Saver, The Times' shopping reporter, has been looking over the food prospects for Christmas, and is mightily pleased with what she found.

"I was talking to my friend on wholesale row this morning," she writes, "and he said the supply of fruit and vegetables for the Christmas season is going to be a peek."

I imagine she found that out at a glance.

The other day "Susie C" wrote Between Times about a real estate ad which suggested "watch the ships sail through your picture window."

The real estate man in question, Alex Page, has obligingly re-written the ad, as follows:

"Skipper of 'Susie C' c/o Monte Roberts.
"Dear Sir: Sorry my real estate ad failed to get a direct reply from you. Will this do it?"

"When 'Susie C' wallows into port this trip, you'd better tie her up. Then set your course and see that gleaming bungalow in Oak Bay... snug interior so warm you'll feel as if you're becalmed on tropic seas. All shipshape. Watch the ships pass as you gaze through your living room window."

"If you miss the roll, one may be had from the baker or the liquor store. See this house, and you'll be ready to swallow the anchor."

Shiver me timbers, I think the man may make a sail.

Refit Sought For Weathership

Transport Department Wants St. Stephen Redied for Emergency; $100,000 Job

The former R.C.N. frigate and weather ship St. Stephen, now in "mothballs" at Esquimalt Harbor, may have a $100,000 refit to ready her for emergency use should either of the two regular weather ships break down on Station Papa (formerly Station Peter).

The amount is being requested from Parliament by Department of Transport officials, in view of the growing importance of weather forecasts based on information secured at Station Papa.

"We are hopeful the estimate will pass," Tom Morrison, Department of Transport agent here, said today. "The station is the most important in the Pacific, and we shouldn't take a chance on having it vacated if anything happened to Stonetown or St. Catharines."

Mr. Morrison points out that accuracy of forecasts has increased greatly since the station has been in operation, and that aircraft and ships can "depend completely" on the weather information.

At one time it was suggested that St. Stephen be fitted out to take a regular tour of duty on station, to cut down the length of time at sea of the weather ships. However, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., was advised in

THEY SAY IT AGAIN: 'IT'S GOING TO RAIN'

You may as well grin as you stand in the rain: The weather man says there'll be more of the same.

Leadens skies drizzled heavy rains over Victoria, Vancouver Island, and the whole Pacific Northwest coastal areas today as an off-shore disturbance worked its way inland.

And right on its heels is a second disturbance, which will bring more rain, and winds which may reach 30 miles an hour.

At 10 a.m. the rain, which started shortly before 4.30 a.m., had deposited .11 inches of moisture at Gonzales meteorological office. Weatherman Bill Mackie says it will slacken off to showers this evening, but return to a steady downpour Friday.

Offshore winds in unprotected areas reached 35 miles an hour shortly before noon today and the east-south-east gale was still "making" at that time.

A little snow is mixed with the rain at higher levels, according to Mr. Mackie, who believes a light slushy fall may turn up on the Malahat.

Temperatures will range from 38 to 46 degrees above.

Mr. Morrison states the $100,000 item in the estimates would bring the ship into sea-going shape. She has been lying dead alongside the jetty since 1950, when she came here after serving as weathership on Station Baker, in the Atlantic.

A nine-man crew, hired on a temporary basis by the Department of Transport, cares for the ship. High machinery is turned over at regular intervals, and pumps and valves operated. However, an out-of-service ship takes damage from disuse, and St. Stephen sadly needs chipping hammers and spray-guns.

The ex-frigate was built at Esquimalt by Yarrows Ltd. She was christened on Feb. 5, 1944, by Queen (then Princess) Juliana of the Netherlands.

Army Reservists Qualify

Lieut.-Col. James Baird, commander of the 75th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment, R.C.A., of the local reserve army, accompanied by Officer-Cadet Fred Richardson (left), is shown inspecting W.O.2 Charles H. Mahon of the 75th at a graduation parade Wednesday night following a six-month reserve army senior N.C.O. provisional school at Bay Street Armories. Each qualifying student received a certificate. Others in the school who qualified were: O.-Cdt. R. G. Fawcett, W.O.2 J. T. Drew, Sgt. R. Earl and Sgt. D. E. Kaye, of the 75th; A.-Sgt. J. S. Caldwell, A.-Sgt. H. F. Robertson, Cpl. N. S. M. Cook and Cpl. P. E. Love, of the Canadian Scottish; Bdr. T. G. Heppell and Bdr. Glen L. Murdoch, of the 5th (B.C.) Coast Regiment, R.C.A.; Sgt. H. H. Lindstrom and Sgt. W. E. Wiper of the 5th Area Signal Squadron, R.C.C.S.; Sgt. H. Teagdale and Cpl. C. H. Tranter-Bowes, of the 13th Field Ambulance, R.C. A.M.C.; and S.-Sgt. H. Shirley, of the 46th Field Sanitary Section, R.C.A.M.C. (Times photo.)

The thrill of the initial hunt was past but a new attack was planned, with R.C.A.F. bombers from Comox appearing. Radio co-ordinated attacks by the two services continued until early morning, when the exercise was "secured."

Lieut.-Cmdr. McDowall declared the exercise a success. Under war conditions the convoy would be safe, his men in a high state of efficiency.

$1,000,000 School Soon For Tender

B.C. Government Approves Plans for New Central Junior High on Old Site

Plans for the new $1,000,000 Central Junior High School, to be constructed on the site of the existing structure between Fort and Yates Street, have been approved by the Department of Education.

A department official said today the Greater Victoria School Board can now call tenders on the big project. The government will pay half the cost.

"Final approval has been given," he said.

J. F. K. English, senior municipal school inspector, when informed of the government's approval, said tenders probably will be called at a regular school board meeting Monday night.

Work is expected to start in the spring, and it is hoped the school will be completed in time for the term starting in September, 1954. It will be designed to accommodate about 700 children.

The new structure, to be one of the most modern in the country, will have 18 classrooms (in a three-story block) and a combined gymnasium and auditorium. Combination of these two facilities was taken as an economy move.

FOR DEMOLITION

The present Central Junior High School, which has been condemned, will be demolished to make way for the new structure.

School board officials expect to use the shift system of school attendance during the construction period. It is understood the west wing of the present school will be retained to accommodate students until the classroom block of the new edifice is ready for occupancy. The present girls' gymnasium may also be employed as a temporary classroom.

Funds for construction of the reinforced concrete school were voted by the ratepayers in money by-laws in 1947 and 1950. The 1950 by-law was required to raise additional money to offset the increased costs of projects approved in 1947.

Iroquois Steaming From Korea, Ahead Of First Schedule

H.M.C.S. Iroquois, returning to Canada after a tour of duty in the Korean war zone, will dock at H.M.C.S. Naden Dec. 16 at 3 p.m.

This is a day earlier than she was expected originally.

Navy officials state that the general public will be welcome to greet the ship at the jetty.

H.M.C.S. Ontario will also dock at H.M.C.S. Naden when she returns from her South American cruise at 11 a.m., Dec. 17.

Forest Fires in B.C. Last Year Cost $1,500,000

It cost British Columbia more than $1,500,000 to fight the fires which broke out in her forests in 1951.

R. G. McKee, of B.C. Forest Service, in an address to the 43rd annual meeting of the Western Forestry and Conservation Association today, pointed out that 1951 had been the most expensive fire-fighting season on record, but felt the tremendous job had been done cheaply at the price.

There were 1,775 fires to control that year, he noted.

"We are proud of our field men who handled them. With 2,500,000 acres as the average size of our range districts, these men have a full-sized job."

Intensive training of fire-fighting specialists is an integral part of the forest service program, he said. Use of a wide-spread radio network and aircraft for patrol work is making headway towards the fast reporting of new fire outbreaks.

Bark Beetle Said Big Forest Threat

Beetles have attacked spruce forests of western Montana and northern Idaho in such large numbers that the situation was described today by an experienced forester as being of "epidemic proportion."

E. C. Rettig, of Lewiston, timber manager of Portland Forests Inc., in an address to the 43rd annual meeting of the Western Forestry and Conservation Association, said stopping the outbreak constituted "a stupendous task."

The tree-killing culprit, he said, is the Englemann spruce bark beetle.

He said recent surveys indicated the potential timber kill might reach four billion board feet.

SOLDIER HERO'S NAME HONORED

The name of a gallant Victorian killed in action in the Second World War has been honored by the Canadian Board of Geographical Names.

The board today approved the name of Shepherd for a point on the chart covering the area from Otter Passage to McKay Reach in honor of the late Cpl. Reginald Alastair Shepherd, M.M.

Cpl. Shepherd was the son of Mrs. May A. H. Corbett of 767 Falkland Road.

He served with the North Shore (New Brunswick) Regiment during the war. He quickly proved himself a leader, but repeatedly refused a commission.

He was killed leading his men in Europe.

New Telescope Probes Heavens With Radio Aid

Saanich Scientist Tells of Advances

Radio astronomy, a new science, will supplement the research work on star galaxies now being carried out by astronomers at the Saanich Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

This was disclosed today by Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the observatory, who has been watching with interest the latest developments in the new science which explore the heavens with a radio telescope.

A radio telescope is a weird, bowl-like structure which is capable of penetrating to the remote depths of space. The largest telescope of its kind is now under construction in England, and when completed will place Britain ahead of other countries in this field of science.

MAY SOLVE MYSTERIES

Dr. Petrie said the findings of the British telescope will prove most useful in helping to solve some of the mysteries astronomers have been studying at the observatory.

While no recommendation yet has emanated from the observatory to Ottawa for the construction of a telescope of similar size, Dr. Petrie said the usefulness of such a telescope has been discussed frequently at the observatory.

He felt that it will not be long before a large telescope of this kind will be built in Canada.

The radio telescope picks up radio waves, apparently originating from regions beyond the solar system. The theory is that the waves come from strange celestial bodies which man has been unable to see due to dust and moisture in the atmosphere.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Has the cost of living dropped in the last month?—Mrs. W.E.

A.—Official figures for November not yet issued. Consumer price index climbed 1/10 of a point during October.

Q.—What is the present value of a U.S. half-dime dated 1853?—G.B.E.

A.—Half-dimes of that date bearing the letter L are fairly common and, depending on condition, may bring from 25 cents up to $2.75. Coins without the L are quite rare and may be worth up to $50.

Q.—What is a Samoyed dog referred to in a recent magazine story in the Victoria Daily Times?—H.D.

A.—It is considered the world's oldest breed of domesticated dog and was bred by the Samoyed peoples of northern Siberia.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Teen-Age Girl Can Look Like Princess at Party

By PENNY SAVER

Let's have a bit of a change today. It seems we've both had enough of gift suggestions for the moment. I'm not going to give up the Christmas touch though.

In fact, today I'm directing my column at the teen-ager; the young lady stepping out to her first party. And what better time could there be to make your debut at a party than during the Yuletide.

No fairy godmother is needed to turn you into an enchanting princess and make a holiday party become a fairy-tale ball for you. All you need is a deft hand with a little make-up.

At least one hour before your date calls for you, begin to get ready. You will want plenty of time to relax in a tub of suds well spiced with bath salts and oils in a scent to match your bath powder. Scrub off all roughness and let the warm water bathe all tension away. The wonderful odor filling the bathroom air will make you feel very feminine and get you into the right mood for the evening.

After everything but your dress on, don a washable housecoat. Brush your hair thoroughly with your head down. This positively will not remove waves and curls, but gives them more life.

Tie back your tresses and begin your make-up with a liquid base that is not too greasy. The color should match your skin as exactly as possible. Stroke it on evenly with your finger tips, using lots if you have trouble achieving an even finish. Be sure to have tissues handy to blot off all but the thinnest coating, for heavy make-up is very unflattering to anyone, especially a teen-ager. Don't forget to make-up your neck.

If blemishes trouble you, as they do many teen-agers, you can use a medicated make-up lotion in a neutral tone. Young girls seldom need rouge. If you are one of the rare exceptions, use a cream rouge to blend on cheekbones and out toward, but not into, the hair-line, using enough to give you natural color and no more.

Your eyebrow line you should leave strictly alone, except for the straggly hairs that may grow underneath it. These you may want to pluck out for a neater look. Eye make-up is definitely unflattering as well as bad taste for a teen-ager, with the exception of the girl with whitish lashes and brows and the girl who wears glasses.

Eye shadow does not lend charm but hardness to teen-ager girls. However, the shiny look of a touch of petroleum jelly or pomade on the lids increases your natural dewy look.

Next step is fluffing on plenty of powder, using a clean piece of cotton. Pat it rather than rub it on, working upward so that the powder gets under the fine facial down for lasting cling. The powder shade should match or be lighter than the base, and for evening wear is most flattering with quite a bit of pink in it.

Now take your powder brush and remove excess powder. Clean up your eyebrows with a mascara brush.

Beware of a hasty lipstick job. For indelibility, first powder your lips lightly. Then trace the outline you desire with a fine camel hair or sable lipstick brush, making sure that the highest points of the upper lip are where nature intended, at the bows in the centre.

Let it set a few minutes. Blot—don't bite—with tissues. Powder over it. Use lipstick again and repeat blotting. At the party you will look like a princess and feel like one.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Banquet Party—At recent meeting of Princess Patricia Lodge, No. 238, Daughters of St. George, final arrangements were made for Christmas banquet and party on Dec. 19 at 6.30 in K. of P. Hall. Mrs. M. Raines, G. 8220, Mrs. E. Watson, E. 4957 and Mrs. M. Carter, G. 5491, are in charge of reservations. Mrs. M. Rodger presided and donations of $10 were made to Protestant Orphanage, Salvation Army and Solarium, also the purchase of Christmas seals.

Discussion—A lively informal discussion, led by Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin, concluded business meeting of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club last Monday in the clubroom, 904 Government Street. The question was "If you were elected to public office, what would be your program?" Mrs. Bessie Smith presided at the business meeting, and it was decided to hold the Christmas dinner and party on Dec. 29 in the clubroom. Tickets for the dinner may be obtained at Minnie Beveridge Millinery, 776 Fort Street. Miss Verna Beek, chairman of the civic affairs group in the club, gave an interesting report of the first meeting and plans for the future. The group will meet at Oak Bay High School auditorium this evening at 7.30 to attend annual meeting of the Oak Bay Council.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Plan Now to Enjoy Life When Children Are Gone

Middle age often is a time of frustration when it should be one of the most pleasant times of life.

One of the main reasons for this is the failure of parents to realize that their children are only leased to them for a few short years. If the parents live a normal life span, they will be alone again when they are in the prime of life, after their children grow up and leave home.

Many marriages break up after the offspring go out into the world. Sometimes this is due to the fact that the children were the only bond between the husband and wife. The parents had lived for and through their children and had lost sight of their marriage.

However, there are many essentially fine marriages which go on the rocks at this time simply because the husband and wife had not prepared for this period. They had put their making a habit of putting themselves first part of the time.

After years of this it is impossible to recapture the old habit of companionship, of having fun and doing things together. Many couples think, "When the children are grown and we do not have that responsibility we will have fun." When the time comes they find themselves somewhat awkward and it isn't so much fun.

The wife may be having menopause, which doesn't help matters, and the husband may be lost because of the emptiness and quietness of the home and also because of retirement.

If you are parents, begin now the habit of doing some things together without the children. Plan evenings out together and short trips if you cannot take longer ones. It is usually possible to arrange with a friend or relative to care for the small fry, for a return of favors.

Keep the feeling of your marriage fresh and alive and begin letting go of your children emotionally long before they leave home. Begin interesting new activities and develop hobbies as soon as they are all school age. These measures will pad the shock of their loss and will allow middle and later years to be real fun.

If you would like to have my booklet "Hobbies" which gives you a long list of suggested hobbies send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 66 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Vacation From Marriage Will Help You Forget 'Dream Man'

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

There is nothing that will spoil a marriage sooner than a "dream man." This young wife should get rid of hers if she wants to avoid having her marriage fail.

(Q)—"I am 19, married, and have a 14-month-old baby. I think being young and foolish helped me make a mistake and things aren't working out. I tried to make a go of my marriage but now there is a man in the picture. I am very fond of him. We have never been alone together but we always look at one another when we are in the same room. When I kiss my husband now, I see someone else. I don't want to hurt my husband but what can I do?"

(A)—The only way to avoid hurting your husband's and baby is to settle down and forget this "dream man." Whether you are aware of it or not, he is coming between you and your husband. You are losing your sense of values and are transferring your affection to this other man.

The best cure for a case like yours is to go away and get a better perspective on things than you now have. Have you a friend or relative who lives out of town whom you might visit for a week or two? Or, you might go back to your parents' home for a visit.

If you could arrange to have a relative or friend take care of your baby while you are away, it would do you a world of good. You are very young to have the responsibilities of marriage and parenthood. A vacation from them will help you to come back to these responsibilities with a fresher point of view.

As for the other man, forget him. The chances are that he is not as much interested in you as you imagine. He may look at you but that does not mean he is in love with you.

To him, you may be just an attractive young matron and, if he is a man of integrity, he has a hands-off policy toward you because you are married. Why risk your future happiness for someone who has made no effort to see you alone?

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

Mrs. C. Gardiner Named President

At annual meeting of Senior Branch of Christ Church Cathedral Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. Claude Gardiner was elected president. Other officers are: Mrs. M. W. Macdonald, first vice-president; Miss M. J. Wollaston, second; Mrs. S. H. Partridge, recording secretary; Mrs. L. Curtis, corresponding; Mrs. C. Courtney, treasurer; Mrs. R. Dwyer, dorcas secretary-treasurer; Mrs. I. Carscadden, united thank-offering; Miss M. Ross Jones, extra cents; Mrs. E. Sigston, educational; Miss B. Hughes, girls' auxiliary leader; Mrs. P. G. Raven, junior auxiliary; Mrs. G. Howland, little helpers; Mrs. A. Semple, living message; Mrs. W. E. Bowen, social service, and Mrs. W. Green, prayer partner.

Representatives to Diocesan board are Mesdames M. Fairclough and H. Josephs. Reports were given by officials of all departments of auxiliary work. Eighteen business, study and open meetings were held in 1952 and $831.71 realized.

In communities where swimming lessons are available in winter, advantage should be taken of the opportunity to learn this very necessary skill in preparation for next summer.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS

MONTREAL, December 11th—Do you have that hurried, hurried feeling when you think of Christmas shopping? I know just the remedy for that "too little and too late" sensation. Do your shopping at the BANK OF MONTREAL. It saves you lots of time and frantic rushing about—AND you can be sure that when you give your B of M Christmas presents, they'll be received with enthusiasm. First of all—for Aunt Miranda... a B of M Money Order! The B of M will "gift-wrap" it in a special Christmas envelope, and hand-to-glass Aunt M. will love picking her present for herself. Then there's that special gift for Junior. Here's a tip— youngsters love to have their very own B of M Savings Account! So give Junior a Christmas Passbook with a dollar or more in it to start him off. And for niece Sue, at college—each two inches needs more of money—one of those holly-leaf B of M Christmas cheques. Feel better about your shopping now? I thought you would. I've bought B of M Christmas presents myself, and I've always found them highly successful!

For The 'Big Shaver' on your Christmas list... for a gift he'll really enjoy... give the new REMINGTON 65 DE LUXE the latest electric shaver with Talk about clean, smooth, fast shaves... why in 60 seconds whisker bristles just melt away! What man wouldn't cheer a one-minute morning shave? The secret is the three diamond-bladed twin-cutting heads. Think of it! Six cutters—each two inches long... they get at those face angles with one clean sweep! Your special man will get a special thrill comes Christmas morning—and every morning... when you make his gift the new Remington 65 De Luxe—complete in its own distinctive carrying case.

Washing Dishes isn't nearly the chore it used to be now that there are those wonderful new chemical soaps do the job in a jiffy. So dishwashing doesn't bother me now—and the chemical soaps don't bother my hands any more, either. The secret? I just keep Jergens Lotion handy—use it after every watery job. Because Jergens is liquid, it quickly supplies the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Truly, for lovely, petal-smooth hands—all you need to do is use Jergens faithfully. It costs very little—just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15. Why not take my tip and try it. Remember JERGENS LOTION... because you care for your hands!

The Bigger The Better?—not always, anyway! I don't imagine, for instance, that the Face-Elle people are the "biggest" in the tissue handkerchief business but their fine quality product certainly gets my vote as the best. Yes, FACE-ELLE is softer than anything you've ever used and yet stronger and more absorbent too. And Face-Elle has two exclusives: They make the only THREE-ply tissues and the only limited edition tissue in Canada. Personally, I'm a "push-over" for those delightful Face-Elle "En Pastels" tissues. Their soft pastel shades add a welcome touch of color wherever you use them... try them next time you buy tissue handkerchiefs!

Here's Wonderful News for all you busy Christmas shoppers! The first "quick meal" news from Heinz spotless kitchens. It's a happy news! A wonderful variety of thrifty, delicious, main-course dishes for your family. In addition to the five kinds of Oven-Baked Beans, there are two kinds of HEINZ COOKED SPAGHETTI and two kinds of HEINZ COOKED MACARONI. So if there were nine days in your busy shopping week (and don't you wish there were!)... there would be a special fast-cooking, wonderful-tasting Heinz treat for each night of the week. Stock up now for rushed meals during these busy days. You'll be glad you did!

Have You Heard The Good News? Your favourite BLUE BONNET DE LUXE MARGARINE now has each golden-yellow quarter pound individually wrapped in a pure aluminum foil with inner parchment lining. It seals in that sunny-sweet "De Luxe" flavour—meals out ice-box odours. You'll find De Luxe Blue Bonnet extra convenient, too. Just unwrap what you need and serve. No more scooping or re-wrapping. And you can forget your measuring cup when you're cooking with De Luxe Blue Bonnet. The handy chart on the package shows exactly where to cut for recipes. Ask for De Luxe Blue Bonnet Margarine, and get all those "De Luxe" advantages—and Blue Bonnet "De Luxe" quality, too.

I Can't Get Along Without It when I'm entertaining. INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE is so quick to make (it's as easy to make ten cups as one) and, above all, it's so good. You see, Instant Chase & Sanborn is the delicious result of almost 100 years of coffee experience. Yes, you'll agree, it's the flavour's there—and the body—and the real life. So when friends drop in—or when you're planning your Christmas party... plan to serve Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee. You'll save up to 40c a pound compared with ground coffee. The regular size jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn gives you the same number of cups as a pound of ground coffee, but there's a big difference in price.

Particularly Now, during busy Christmas shopping season, our bean suppers are a real treat (for both me, the cook—and the family). Because, though baked beans for supper date back to grandma's day—Heinz have made beans so much easier to prepare! Just empty a can of HEINZ OVEN-BAKED BEANS in a casserole, flip a switch, and before you know it, a bean treat for the family! Delicious! Even grandma sings the praises of Heinz Oven-Baked Beans. Yes, most say, it's Heinz night in our home. You see, there are now five kinds of Heinz Oven-Baked Beans... the latest—Baked Beans with Sliced Wieners, delicious variety for lots of quick meals!

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Say 'Au Revoir' at Party

Friendship was the keynote of a four-to-six reception in the lower lounge at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday, where His Excellency Robert W. Mayhew and Mrs. Mayhew were saying farewell to a host of Victorians, many of whom they had known since their earliest years in the city.

This week-end, the new Canadian Ambassador and his wife leave for Japan.

Among those who attended the reception were His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace. They were accompanied by Cmdr. Hew Paterson and Miss Ruth MacLean.

Refreshments were served from an attractively appointed table in the centre of the spacious green and gold room. Bright red poinsettias and matching lighted red candles in tall silver candelabra decorated the table, and presiding at the silver tea and coffee urns were Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., Mrs. Walter Luney, Mrs. Byron Johnson, Mrs. W. T. Straith, Mrs. Edwin Tomlin, Mrs. J. McFarlane, Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mrs. F. M. McGregor, Mrs. J. B. Cowley, Mrs. W. G. Wilson and Miss Kathleen Agnew. Mr. and Mrs. Logan Mayhew and Mrs. Elza Mayhew assisted with the guests.

Forestry Convention Party

Delegates and their wives who are attending the three-day 43rd annual conference of Western Forestry and Conservation Association at the Empress Hotel were honored at a dinner in the Crystal Ballroom last evening. The dinner was preceded by a cocktail party in the library.

Coffee Party for Simone Sonet

Mrs. J. Douglas Boyd entertained at a coffee party in her home, 10 Douglas Street, to honor her mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie Dawson. Guests, numbering 30, will be friends and neighbors of the honor guest.

The table, covered with an ecru linen cloth edged with Irish cord lace, was centred with yellow and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. D. N. Macmillan presided.

Hostess at the Tea Hour

Mrs. Harry Dawson will be hostess at the tea hour on Friday at her home, 10 Douglas Street, to honor her mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie Dawson. Guests, numbering 30, will be friends and neighbors of the honor guest.

Mrs. A. E. Webster was hostess at a pre-Christmas tea in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Wynne Shaw returned to Victoria earlier this week following a six-month trip to South Africa and to England.

Miss Donna Munro returned this morning to Victoria by plane from a visit of several months in Sweden. She will spend the Christmas season with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Munro, Gordon Head.

Mrs. Susan Fry and her sister, Miss Lesley Blackley, arrived in Victoria Tuesday to spend the winter. At present they are staying at McMillan Auto Court, Gorge Road. They motored from their home in Toronto, via New York, Detroit, Seattle and Vancouver, where they have been visiting for the past month. Both Mrs. Fry and Miss Blackley have many friends in Victoria where they formerly lived.

At a ship's christening held recently in Halifax, N.S., aboard H.M.C.S. Crescent, the infant son of Lieut. Cmdr. J. R. Coulter, commanding officer of the Montreal, and Mrs. Coulter the former Priscilla Wright, of Toronto and Victoria, received the names Mark Fletcher Graham. Present for the ceremony were Lieut. Cmdr. Ian McPhee, proxy godfather; Mrs. J. M. Paul, proxy godmother; Cmdr. R. L. Hennessey, godfather, and the baby's sister, Marnie Coulter. Chaplain (P) A. G. Faraday officiated and the ship's bell was used as a font.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Food Carriers—A cheque for $2,400 was presented to Sister Superior at recent meeting of St. Joseph's Hospital Senior Ladies' Auxiliary. The money will be used to purchase three heated food carriers, an oxygen kit and other necessary equipment. Reports of the recent bazaar were read.

Sale of Work—Sum of $130 was realized at recent tea and sale of work given by the Women's Auxiliary to St. John the Baptist Church, Colwood. The affair was officially opened by Mrs. R. Little. Stall conveners were: Mrs. F. Searle and Mrs. T. Tingle, fancywork; Mrs. E. Emery and Mrs. K. Giffin, home cooking; Mrs. A. McFarlane and Lady Robinson, plants and miscellaneous. Mrs. A. Bird sold coffee and A. Proudfoot took charge of the fishpond. Tea was served by Mesdames E. Ferris, R. Robinson, W. Charnell and O. Bodman.

Donations—At meeting of Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.E., with Mrs. O. B. Ormond presiding, $10 was voted to Sgt. Buxton presentation fund; $15 to Lampson Street School milk fund; a donation made to two students at Esquimalt High School; Christmas hampers, smokes and Christmas cheer to Veterans' Hospital. Mrs.

Japanese Consul at Ambassador's Party

Mr. Takashi Yasukawa, consul for Japan at Vancouver, and Mrs. Takashi Yasukawa, flew from the mainland city yesterday to be present at the farewell party given by His Excellency Robert W. Mayhew, Canada's Ambassador to Japan, and Mrs. Mayhew, Wednesday evening. Last week Mr. and Mrs. Yasukawa entertained at the Japanese consulate in Vancouver with a reception to honor the new ambassador and his wife. The charming young Japanese couple are pictured above with their host and hostess at the Empress Hotel last night. Mrs. Mayhew wore for the occasion a moonlight grey lace and chiffon gown, the long full chiffon skirt, pleated from the hipline, and the off-shoulder lace neckline complemented with a necklace of pearls. Her cap of off-white nylon satin was studded with iridescent pearls. Mrs. Yasukawa wore deep wine red taffeta touched with black and gold. Her accessories were black and she carried sable furs.

Likes and Dislikes of Women Influence Canadian Business

All jokes to the contrary, what's on a woman's mind is of vital importance to Canadian businessmen. Instead of distrusting women's opinions they have developed a healthy respect for what the Canadian housewife thinks and they have done so with scientific surveys.

Consumer research, as it is called, tells Canadian business whether milady selects that tricky looking package with the brand new recipe or whether she prefers hers round or square, as well as a host of other facts about her buying habits.

The "cellophane" division of Canadian Industries Limited was one of the pioneer users of these research methods and it gives full credit to the housewife. Many of the original ideas for making "cellophane" cellulose film useful came from the women who were questioned.

From such studies, new ideas for more effective and more informative packaging were developed: packaging designed for small families where waste is a problem; packaging to assure freshness and packaging which stresses convenience. Today's housewife shops with her eyes and buys what looks good but she is also extremely conscious of packaging for sanitation and cleanliness.

The ladies interviewed placed food items at the top of the list of things they liked to buy in protective packages. Baby's clothing and toys came next for obvious reasons. Household articles like linens and towels were third and clothing fourth. They consider it important that such things as blouses, men's shirts and sheer hosiery be packaged.

Although the housewife is still the "king pin" shopper of the family, the surveys reveal that she no longer does all the family food buying. Her husband or children often trail along with her and they greatly influence her buying.

Men like the convenience of self-service stores but the surveys show they do a lot more impulse buying than their wives. The males are inclined to spend more, buy larger quantities and succumb to the temptation of exotic food items which may catch the eye.

Alumnae Honors Student Nurses

Nurses who will graduate in 1953 became members of the Alumnae Association of the Royal Jubilee Hospital at a recent meeting.

Membership cards and corsages in alumnae colors of purple and gold were presented to: Misses Shirley Anderson, Sheila Atkinson, Beverly Bates, Shirley Cameron, Patricia Dickson, Joan Hansen, Norma Harris, Sheila Hicks, Anne King, Coleen Karst, Joan Kelly, Irma Melz, Ardis Nelson, Patricia O'Meara, Lois Pack, Irene Schumlander, Ellen Stroud, Anne Thompson, Bernice Williams, Doreen Weismiller, Anne Wilson and Peggy Pullen.

"The Nurse's Dream," a hilarious skit, was later enacted by the new members.

Proceeds of $821.58 from the October bazaar and $118 from a recent rummage sale were announced. Mrs. E. Pite was named to convene the annual dinner in February.

The student nurses' infirmary will be decorated this year by Mrs. S. Neale. She is also in charge of buying gifts for the sick.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. E. Pite served buffet supper to the guests, among whom were Miss Woodrow, superintendent of nurses; Miss F. Gass and Miss M. Richmond of the teaching staff.

Candlelight Nuptial Service

Rev. S. J. Wickens officiated at the recent nuptial service in St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church which united Violet Kercher in marriage with Lawrence William Kerr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. McKay, Cassidy, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kerr, Mars Street.

Candles and white chrysanthemums decorated the church and organ music was played as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her brother, Donald H. McKay.

A mist blue crepe dress styled in princess lines was worn by the bride. She complemented her ensemble with rose hat and gloves and a colonial bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Her only attendant, Miss Anna McKay, wore a navy blue shantung afternoon dress and her colonial bouquet was pale yellow chrysanthemums and carnations.

Neil Smith was best man and Carl Irwin was an usher.

Dr. A. J. Saich proposed the toast at a reception in the Olympia Avenue home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. McKay. The lace-covered bride's table was centred with a two-tier cake and decorated with sweetheart roses and white candles in crystal candelabras.

Upon leaving for her honeymoon at Qualicum, the bride wore a rose wool dress topped with a squirrel coat and a corsage of roses.

Children's Party

A Christmas tree and party was held in Aerie Hall, F.O.E., View Street, Tuesday evening, when 95 auxiliary children received a visit from Santa Claus. Motion pictures were shown under direction of Cecil Holt, and community singing led by Mary Hallam with Rhoda Thompson at the piano. Special guest was Dorrine Paine, F.O.E. Memorial Foundation daughter of Victoria. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lee. Gifts, ice cream, candy and fruit were distributed to all the little guests by Lynda Wright and her committee.

THE TIME

There was a time not too long ago when Hollywoodites were convinced the motion picture studios would jump into television and take complete charge. That opinion, by slow degrees, is beginning to change, especially as time goes on and the movie studios still seem reluctant. The feeling now is that the big industrial firms are already sinking so much money in TV that the picture studios will soon discover they don't have enough moola to compete against such fat bankrolls as those at the command of the big companies.

A lecture on citizenship backfires on Jim Anderson (Robert Young) tonight on "Father-Knows Best."

Father forcefully instructs each of his children that the basis of good citizenship lies in the voluntary performance of civic duties. When each child carries out his advice, it becomes obvious that his lecture made too much of an impression. Father loses a suit and hat, is named chairman of a school entertainment committee, and becomes involved in an insurance accident case.

Millie and Mama try to earn money to buy each other Christmas presents but have a hard time keeping it a secret as they both get jobs in the same department store on tonight's "Meet Millie" program on KIRO at 9.

A woman contestant will be selected as a welcoming committee for civic leaders by Ralph Edwards on "Truth or Consequences" tonight. Edwards will prime the lucky lady for her important job and she will publicly rehearse her welcoming speeches.

The contestant's first assignment will be to leave the N.B.C. studios and welcome the passengers alighting from the first Sunset Boulevard bus that comes along.

In the surprise consequences portion of the show, a man will be completely surprised when the popular emcee returns a long-lost ring of great sentimental value to him.

TONIGHT'S HIGHLIGHTS: Mystery—"Big Story" on KOMO at 7, and "Top Guy" on KJR at 7:30. . . Music—Mindy Carson on KIRO at 9:30. . . Comedy—"Meet Millie" on KIRO at 9.

A woman contestant will be selected as a

WANTED FATHER IN CABINET

Captain Threatens To Sink Own Ship

HALIFAX, Dec. 11 (CP)—A skipper who threatened to sink his ship in the Atlantic unless his father was made a member of the Israeli cabinet has been brought ashore here by tug and described as "mentally ill" by port officials.

Capt. Adam Graetz, 24-year-old master of the Abraham Graetz, was brought ashore Wednesday night by a tug at the request of the ship's owners and her agents here.

He was removed from the ship without incident and it was understood he was immediately admitted to hospital here.

There were no other details immediately available but sketchy reports from the ship, before a radio blackout, indicated Graetz had used a pistol to force the radio operator to send his demands to the Israeli premier, David Ben-Gurion.

That was three or four days ago.

NO REPORTS
Since then there had been no reports available on what had happened aboard the 5,686-ton freighter which sailed from New York December 6, bound for Canadian ports and Israel.

There was no answer as to how the officers and crew members were able to get advice to the owners on the situation aboard the ship, which now is presumably following the tug into port here.

Immigration and R.C.M.P. officers at the pier where the captain was landed said they had no information.

R. John Fisher, vice-president of Pickford and Black, agents for the ship here, said he knew nothing of the affair.

Immigration authorities said only that the man would be

STORY PUBLISHED

The story of the radio messages was published Wednesday in the Tel Aviv newspaper Maariv. It said that when at sea the captain had his radio operator send this message to Ben-Gurion:

"Either you appoint my father minister of communications or else I sink the ship."

A reply from Israel to the radio operator said: "Disobey captain, follow orders first officer."

Several hours later the operator replied: "Unable follow your orders as captain holding me at pistol point."

The captain's father, H. R.
Graetz, caught the first available plane from Israel and is en route

Proposed Ice Tour Vetoed

SUBURRY, Ont., Dec. 11
(BUP)—A proposed 11-game tour of Japan by the Junior Fal-conbridge Wolves has been turned down by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, it was announced Wednesday.

Max Silverman, president of the senior Sudbury Wolves of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, said C.A.H.A. secretary-treasurer George Dudley advised him of the refusal, but gave no reason. Dudley could not be reached immediately for comment.

Silverman said one reason might be that the Wolves played only three exhibition games and did not enter league competition this year.

The Japanese Ice Federation announced Wednesday that the Canadian juniors were to have arrived there Jan. 7 for the exhibition circuit.

Frank Albert to Retire From Grid

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11
(AP)—Frankie Albert, star quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers and twice All-American with Stanford Indians, will retire from football Sunday.

The pro team announced Wednesday that his final appearance will be against the Green Bay Packers here.

In seven seasons with the 49ers, Albert completed 815 of 1,538 passes for a total gain of 10,582 yards.

"He ran the club on the field, and he was the greatest field general we ever had," coach Buck Shaw said.

THE DOCTOR SAYS
Signs of Affection Needed By Infants
BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
There is practically nothing so bound up with tradition and prejudice as the care of babies. Anyone and everyone offers free advice on how the baby should be fed, clothed and how it should be trained.
Most of this advice is worth what is paid for it—exactly nothing.
A few years ago the late Dr. C. Anderson Aldrich and Mrs. Aldrich wrote a book called "Babies Are Human Beings," which I hope is still in print. The main theme is that babies should not all be treated alike, because their individual personalities would have little chance to develop.
As the Aldrichs point out, babies are different even at birth; in a hospital nursery for newborns a great difference between one baby and another in appearance and behavior can be noticed. Every parent instinctively recognizes that her baby is "different."
One question which the Aldrichs discuss is about fondling or loving babies. Conscientious mothers often ask whether fondling is proper. For some reason they sometimes feel that it may be wrong for babies to be rocked, hugged or mothered, and that the infant in order to be healthy must be raised as practically "untouched by human hands."
It is not good, of course, for a baby to have indiscriminate fondling by friends and relatives. Like everything else, this matter can be overdone. The more people who come in close contact with the baby the greater the chance of giving the infant some infectious disease.
To feel that a mother and father should not give the infant physical affection, however, is to inflict unintentional cruelty.
GO EASY ON INFANT
Everyone thrives on some affection and probably infants most of all. Of course, it is good to fondle babies—good for the baby and good for the parents. This does not mean bouncing a baby around roughly or exposing it to colds or other infections.
Two principles should govern: treat a baby as you would like to be treated if you were young and helpless; and remember that signs of affection are appreciated even before a child can talk. The rewards of proper handling in infancy will be reaped when the child gets older.
Children who are excessively shy are often considered dull if the condition is not understood by their elders. While children differ in their degrees of sociability, some are shy because they lack self-reliance and the ability to associate with others. Small responsibilities at home and more freedom from Mummy's apron strings may help the child to become more sociable with others.

Canadian Indians on Reserve Under Feudal System, Charge
OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP)—Senator G. H. Ross, L. Alberta, has appealed to the Senate for a better deal for the government's 136,000 Indian wards.
He urged during the Throne Speech debate Wednesday that the government avoid "paternalism" in dealing with Indians. If Canada had encouraged proper settlement and schooling since the 1870's "the Indians would no doubt long ago have been fully absorbed into the life of Canada as valuable citizens."
Senator Ross, a 74-year-old Calgary lawyer, suggested steps to raise Indian morale, including the right to home ownership on reservations and improved schooling.
"The right to own and be unmolested in his home... is fundamental. The Indian has a home on the reserve but he cannot say one foot of the reserve is his. The title stands in the name of the Crown. If the Indian owned his home outright he could take pride in it."
In education, Senator Ross suggested accommodation for all children of school age, that Indian children be given sports training and that residential schools give boys more manual training and girls more domestic science.
"Life on a reserve takes one who should be a free man and disciplines him. It puts him under a planner at Ottawa. It is a return to the feudal system."
The oldtime view that mental illness was a matter for shame or something to be kept secret from the neighbors, has given place to the understanding that emotional disturbance is, like other human illness, often amenable to right treatment if taken in its earliest stages.

House of Lords May Get Ladies
LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Britain's last official male bastion, the House of Lords, has taken the first step toward allowing women to take seats in its staid chambers. The House Wednesday gave first reading to a bill giving the Queen power to appoint 10 new peers every year whose titles could not be passed on to their heirs.
British subjects of either sex would become members of the House of Lords under these lifetime-only peerages. Peerages now are passed on from father to the eldest son.

Veteran, Tyro Candidates Pledge Sound Government for Esquimalt

The annual public meeting attended by report-making councillors and promise-making candidates for three Esquimalt council seats in Saturday's municipal election was a fairly quiet affair Wednesday night. About 120 attended the meeting in Esquimalt High School auditorium.

neatly parried the one or two thrusts at past year's council activities and all five candidates limited themselves to short addresses with few promises, except a pledge to aid Esquimalt.

G. K. Sammon, first speaker, stated his opposition to any proposed increases in the mill rate. He said he was in favor of the hiring of a full-time qualified engineer, implying that the savings of such an action would offset the salary expenditure. He added that if elected he would press for increased road, sewer and sidewalk construction.

Mrs. Anne Paterson Smith, a housewife candidate, called on the women to support her with the promise that she would seek out two opposed opinions on any controversial matter before council. A study of both sides, she said, would precede her action. She promised an honest hearing for delegations. She described herself as a housewife used to years of stretching family budgets and therefore fitted for the task of stretching tax dollars.

STANDS ON RECORD
Clr. James Bryant, up for reelection, stands on his record of last year's council. He has been active on the parks and playgrounds committee, to which end he reported $5,000 had been spent last year.

Clr. Bryant declared his interest in the furtherance of youth training facilities, saying that the expenditure of $1,000 on the lacrosse box under construction now is a small thing if it serves to keep one boy out of delinquency. The councillor has also been busy with the municipal civil defense and the town planning and zoning board this year.

Clr. J. A. Coffey, also attempting to retain his council seat this year, said he promises nothing; but if it is for Esquimalt, he is for it. Clr. Coffey reported for the finance committee that Esquimalt has only spent $430,906 out of a budgeted $523,575.

Also seeking re-election, Clr. Walter Holder stated he favors the adoption of a better lighting system for Esquimalt streets and a continued program of public works.

A report covering the fire department activities, street lighting, the detention home and the board of health was delivered by Clr. W. H. Dallaway.

He was followed by re-elected school trustee H. R. Reeve, seated by acclamation. Mr. Reeve stated that the present school financing plan takes too much from the municipalities.

Reeve Wurtele praised the action of the ratepayers in approving the $300,000 road program, 25 per cent completed.

The greater part of the reeve's talk was focused on the fact that Esquimalt contains a great deal of federal government property, revenue from which is less than half there would be if they were taxable. He indicated that council would continue to press for a larger grant in that regard.

The reeve suggested that Esquimalt citizens should not adopt a stubborn attitude to the subject of amalgamation.

Councillors G. R. Guillemaud and G. F. Argyle were unable to attend the meeting.

Stamp Details Still Untold

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP)—Postmaster-General Cote says details will be announced by spring of five stamps which will carry the portrait of Queen Elizabeth.

He told a civil service stamp club Wednesday night that designs of the stamps, from one to five cents in value, are "still a state secret."

Mr. Cote said another series of stamps is planned to depict the larger animals, flowers and native art of Canada, possibly in several colors.

WALL OF PREJUDICE?

China is essentially an agricultural country. Almost 400 million Chinese earn their living directly from the soil. But before the Communist revolution, 80 per cent of the peasants did not own the land they cultivated. It was owned by nobles, speculators and money-lenders who extracted ruinous rents and kept the peasants in the most utter misery.

China has always kept a precarious balance between her natural food resources and the size of her population. When something went wrong with the food supply because of a flood, a drought, an epidemic, a war or a revolution, five or 10 million Chinese died of hunger. Poverty does not always lead to death but it can often lead to ruin.

The peasant who had no food in reserve to carry him from one season to another was obliged to sink into debt each time some unforeseen trouble assailed him. Interest rates varied between 40 and 60 per cent and sometimes ran as high as 100 per cent. If the peasant was unable to pay on time, the money-lender, who was usually the mandarin, seized his land.

LAND REFORM OLD
The redistribution of land is not a new thing in China. Every political regime has been forced into land reform at least once in three or four centuries.

People who know China say that if Chiang Kai-shek had given the peasants land, the Communist would never have come to power. It was at the head of the list of reforms proposed by the Kuomintang. But Chiang Kai-shek was much too involved with the mandarins to dispossess them for the benefit of the peasants.

It is hard to see how Chiang Kai-shek's armies, numbering more than 3,000,000 men and magnificently equipped with American weapons, could be so shamefully humbled by Mao-tse-tung's forces which were vastly inferior in numbers and in arms.

The most likely explanation is this: Chiang Kai-shek's soldiers soon found out that Mao-tse-tung was handing out land to the peasants in the territories which he occupied. As they were peasants themselves and as they wanted to be free of the tyranny of the nobles and money-lenders, they deserted Chiang Kai-shek and went over to the enemy. In this way, whole army corps switched allegiance. The powerful Kuomintang army melted away overnight while the red-starred national army of liberation increased in power.

LIFE IS CHEAP
They say that agrarian reform has cost 2,000,000 lives in Communist China. It's probably true. But you must remember that lives are not priced very high in China. Every revolution rests on an incredible number of executions. It wasn't unusual for a conquering general to wipe out the whole population of a town.

For example, during the 19th century in the city of Yunnan, the population dropped from 100,000 to 80,000 after a general had passed through. New China is simply being faithful to the best Chinese tradition when she cuts off the heads of her enemies.

Agrarian reform is of such intense interest to the Chinese people that it has inspired books, plays and operas. Nearly all the dramas and all the operas which are being presented in China—and this has been going on a long time—use the theme of the unhappy peasant, the harsh money-lender and the despair of the debtor when he is obliged to hand over his daughter to appease his creditor.

CONSERVATIVES NOW
There are 3,000,000 Chinese living on land given to them by Mao-tse-tung. They may have been Communists yesterday but they are conservatives today. Those people who understand the Chinese peasant's devotion to his land say that these 3,000,000 Chinese would fight to the last man to keep what the revolution has given to them.

Can anyone really believe that under these conditions Chiang Kai-shek has the ghost of a chance of putting his foot on continental China? In Chinese eyes he personifies foreign intervention in Chinese affairs and the harshness of the mandarins in their treatment of the peasants.

It seems to me that in picking Chiang Kai-shek, the Americans have backed the wrong horse.

Sweepstake Haul Made in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Dec. 11 (CP)—Hundreds of books of Australian and Irish sweepstake tickets were seized Wednesday in a police crackdown.

Three ticket salesmen were fined a total of $250 and a fourth was remanded for trial.

Detectives used warrants to enter the homes and businesses of the men where the books and records of sales were seized.

I can't afford to be without it!

These days you can't afford to waste a morsel of food. That's why Hand-e-wrap is so wonderful! It's so easy to tear off just the right amount from the handy dispenser box with the metal cutting edge . . . to wrap meat, fish, vegetables and other perishables to keep them fresh, moist and full of nourishment. There's a wonderful saving, too, when you keep left-overs wrapped in Hand-e-wrap, because its double-waxed surface seals in goodness and prevents food taint. Hand-e-wrap has a hundred uses around the home. You can't afford to be without it!

In the meantime United States and European co-operation will be sought in the sterling recovery plan that has been drafted. A statement issued at the closing

Commonwealth Bonds Advocated in U.K.

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP).—A suggestion that government-backed bonds in denominations of 10 shillings and 10 pence be offered to the people of the Commonwealth to finance an Empire development plan, is made by the Daily Mail in a front-page editorial today.

The paper suggests that every man and woman in the Commonwealth should be invited to participate in the proposed development bond project.

"Let them have a stake in the risk and a share in the profits," the editorial says. "We should then have a true property-owning democracy."

Chetwynd Won't Arbitrate Fish Dispute

Fisheries Minister Ralph Chetwynd has refused to arbitrate the price dispute which has tied up British Columbia's multi-million dollar herring industry since October.

"At the present moment I cannot see where arbitration would be the means of starting fishing immediately, and that is the most important factor for the welfare of 5,000 persons and millions of dollars worth of equipment presently idle," Mr. Chetwynd said today.

Quebec Police Fire on Rioting Textile Strikers

Five Wounded, 25 Held, Authorities Read Riot Act

(Compiled from BUP-CP Dispatches)

LOUISVILLE, Que., Dec. 11.—Police opened fire on rioting textile work strikers today in Louisville, Que. At least five have been wounded, one seriously, and 30 others arrested as violence erupted for the fifth time in a nine-month strike against the Associated Textile Company Ltd.

The riot flared when police ordered strikers to break up a parade and they refused. Patrolmen used night sticks and guns to disperse the milling strikers who gathered near the Textile Company plant.

Paul Benoit, head of the provincial police anti-subversive squad—headquarters—read the Riot Act in the town forbidding the gathering of groups and making anyone found in the streets open for questioning. It put a form of martial law into effect.

Five union men were injured at union headquarters, two of them reported wounded by bullets. The others were reported slightly wounded in scuffling with police.

300 MARCH
The first outbreak came early this morning when the 300 marched to the company's plant. Among them were the 50 reported to have come in from Granby, Que., by bus.

Strikers said police were on the plant roof and on the ground and that those on the roof began firing and throwing tear gas bombs. Police on the ground rushed the marchers and dispersed them.

The strikers and sympathizers then headed back into town and went to union headquarters.

They said a police car drew up. The strikers said they threw snowballs at the policemen, who moved in. Fighting broke out. Shots were fired and clubs wielded.

Raymond Gagnon, business agent of the union, said he called on Paul Benoit, officer in charge of the provincial police, to restore order.

About 800 employees of the textile plant went on strike last spring for higher wages and improved working conditions. Several attempts since then to settle the dispute have failed.

Earlier this week an empty bus was dynamited in this industrial town, about 65 miles from Montreal. No one was injured but damage was estimated at $4,000.

The Riot Act was last read in Quebec on May 5, 1949, following a bloody outbreak that marked a strike of asbestos miners at Asbestos. Twelve policemen were injured and road blocks, set up by the 5,000 strikers, cut off the town.

42 Men Saved As Ship Sinks In Golden Gate

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11 (AP).—The Norwegian freighter Fernstream sank inside the bay today shortly after colliding with the freighter Hawaiian Rancher. The Fernstream's crew escaped in lifeboats.

The crash occurred just west of Alcatraz island in murky fog and drizzle. The Hawaiian Rancher immediately flashed an SOS and the Coast Guard dispatched rescue boats.

The Coast Guard later reported that the Fernstream's crew of 42 men had taken to the lifeboats when their ship began to go under.

The Coast Guard said there was only one minor injury reported—a Fernstream crew member suffered a wrist injury.

The accident happened about 7:30 a.m. The Coast Guard said. The Norwegian vessel sank at 8:06 a.m.

The tide was going out at the time and the Coast Guard said the sunken ship possibly might block the shipping channel.

Goodyear Announces Cut In Tire Prices

TORONTO, Dec. 11 (CP).—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company today announced price reductions in tires and tubes amounting to approximately $1.50 on the most popular sizes of first-line tires. Officials of Dupont Tire and Rubber Goods Company said they are considering a downward adjustment of price.

The price reduction in tires for farm tractors and implements will average between $3 and $4 a tire. The reduction does not extend to second-line tires.

Victoria tire dealers said they had received no word from the factories about price reductions but expected to hear at any time.

FEW VOTED TURN OUT FOR CIVIC BALLOT

Weather Blamed For Poor Showing

A cold, driving rain and colorless election campaign combined to give Victoria a light poll of 1,340 up to noon today.

A total vote somewhere in the "7,000's" is now expected by Returning Officer Frank Hunter who had earlier estimated a possible 9,000 poll.

By 12 noon in the Dec. 1950, election—last non-mayoral year, 1,897 persons had voted. This was 537 more than up to noon today.

The result so far indicates a below average vote even for a non-mayoral year," commented Mr. Hunter.

FIRST VOTERS

First voters were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wheelams of 1130 Woodstock.

Polls closed at 7 p.m. and the first count will be under way by about 7:15 in the firemen's hall above the market.

First count may be completed by 10:30, Mr. Hunter said.

Four aldermen are to be elected from a field of eight; two school trustees from a field of three and one police commissioner selected from two candidates.

All voters cast ballots on a Yates Street firehall referendum. Property owners voted on a Debt Pre-levy By-law and a Pemberton Woods Subdivision By-law.

French Police Arrest 1,000 In Casablanca

CASABLANCA, Morocco (Reuters).—The entire 24 members of the general staff of the Moroccan nationalist movement was arrested overnight in police raids on four cities, French officials reported today.

Twelve Communist leaders were also arrested for participation in the bitter anti-French rioting Monday which killed more than 50 persons. Most of the Communists are Europeans and were quickly flown to Paris.

More than 1,000 Moroccans alleged to have been arrested by French police and troops since Monday and more arrests are expected. "Our operations against the ringleaders have not yet been completed," a police spokesman said today.

Discussions of the letter led to some harsh statements for and against the national officers of the congress.

"Officers of the T.L.C. headquarters should be criticized for not alerting us sooner about this bill," said Mr. Gee.

R. K. Gervin, convention chairman, defended the stand of T.L.C. president Percy Bengough and Gordon Cushing, secretary.

"I support our recommendation. We must oppose any motion that restricts labor unions," Mr. Gervin said. "But they have given us leadership as they see it. They are in a better position than us to know what is going on in Ottawa, and they know what to do," he concluded.

Of a shaking up as a result of the survey.

Topping the popularity list on the page is the timeless panel "Out Our Way," closely followed by "Around Home," "Nancy," "Mark Trail" and "Dick Tracy," "Orphan Annie," "Buz Sawyer" and "Kerry Drake" are other favorites.

Of lesser interest are the space adventures of Chris Welkin which apparently have not captured the imagination of Victoria youngsters.

The whimsical "King Aroo" has some faithful followers, but they are in the minority among the comic page readers.

The whole purpose of the survey is to help in improving your daily paper and the resulting action will appear in due course. Meantime the publisher and editors of The Times wish to thank all those subscribers who devoted their time to marking the questionnaires and the carrier boys who delivered and collected them.

Other departments of the paper, sports, women's pages, finance and business, entertainment, all have their devoted fans.

The comic page is due for a bit scribes helped in the survey by marking a questionnaire listing the features they read and the ones they like best. Due to practical limitations only a portion of Times' readers could be canvassed.

EDITORIALS RATE HIGH
One of the pleasing features to the publisher and editors of the paper is the extraordinarily high readership of the editorial page. Better than three out of four subscribers turn to Page Four every day for the comments of editorial writers, columnists and cartoonists on the affairs of the community, the nation and the world. Letters to the editor have the highest single rating on the page, with the leading editorials almost on a par.

Other departments of the paper, sports, women's pages, finance and business, entertainment, all have their devoted fans.

LOST Q.C.A. OFFICIAL FOUND 'ALIVE AND WELL'

VANCOUVER, Dec. 11 (CP).—Thomas McLaughlin, Queen Charlotte Airlines official lost since Tuesday in the mountainous region near Halfmoon Bay, 40 miles northwest of here, was found today.

Q.C.A. flew in a 40-man search party at dawn today and that the 38-year-old chief inspector was "alive and well."

G.C.A. flew in a 40-man search party at dawn today and other parties, including R.C.M.P., left from nearby Sechart. It is not known which party found McLaughlin.

McLaughlin was lost during the search for the Q.C.A. Anson that crashed in the area Friday, killing Capt. Bruce Wilson.

TAFT-HARTLEY LAW SEEN IN MAKING

Criminal Code Amendments Branded 'Smoke Screen' to Smash Unions

By DON INGHAM
Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO, Dec. 11.—Sections of Bill H-8, containing proposals to amend the Criminal Code of Canada were compared here today to the U.S. Taft-Hartley law.

Speaking before the provincial convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, George Gee, of the Vancouver local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said defense of the bill as a weapon against Communism is a "smoke screen."

"The Taft-Hartley Law in the United States was adopted to fight Communism," he said, "but is being used to smash labor unions."

Attacks on the proposed amendments, now before the Canadian Senate, culminated in the unanimous adoption of a resolution: "That all sections covering the rights of workers to strike and picket be deleted, and that all sections affecting the democratic rights of citizens be amended or deleted."

After a 25-mile parade through Honolulu and the placing of a wreath at the Punchbowl Military Cemetery, Eisenhower was scheduled to go immediately to his quarters at Kaneohe Marine Base, on the windward side of Oahu Island. There he will resume the major policy conferences which have engaged him and key members of his future cabinet during the cruise from Guam.

This week-end the President elect is to fly back to New York. Shortly thereafter he will meet with Gen. Douglas MacArthur to discuss the latter's ideas for shortening the Korean war.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (BUP).—President Truman says he does not believe General MacArthur has anything new for ending the Korean war. The president made the statement at a news conference today in Washington.

WALL OF PREJUDICE?

China Unified For First Time

Exclusive on Vancouver Island

Following is one of a series of articles by a well-known Montreal editor and publisher who spent September behind the Iron Curtain with an invitation to the World Peace Congress in Peking. Filion is editor of Le Devoir, a French language newspaper noted for its controversial attitude on current problems.

When you return from a three-week trip to China, you are immediately asked simple questions like, "When will the revolution break out in China? Will Chiang Kai-shek soon invade the continent?"

Even if you had spent your entire life in China you would be hard put to answer such complex questions. It is therefore unlikely that a newspaperman who only passed through the country could have the answers.

Mao-Tse-tung's government is the first one to have unified the country, restored order and thrown the foreigners out.

In 1942, the British, backed by cannon fire, forced the Emperor to open Chinese ports to western traders, with special emphasis on the opium traffic. There followed a long series of political and economic agreements between the Middle Empire and Western Powers. These agreements were humiliating and dishonorable for the Chinese government. These agreements were called the "Unequal Treaties."

At one time even the Chinese Customs Commission was headed by an Englishman. Chinese territory was split up into zones of influence and the Western Powers took over the control of the ports, calling them "concessions."

NEVER UNIFIED
The overthrow of the Manchu dynasty in 1911 was the signal for a period of anarchy, revolution and acts of violence. The Chinese Republic, even under Chiang Kai-shek, never succeeded in unifying the country.

Since 1949, China has had a central government with authority over the whole country except Formosa which is still in Chiang's hands; Hong Kong and Macao which are respectively British and Portuguese colonies in the south, and Port Arthur and Dairen which are occupied by the Russians in the Petchili Gulf in the north. The present government has every intention of occupying the rest of the country as soon as it is strong enough.

The Chinese, whether they are Communists or not, are very proud of their strong government. It has proved itself able to keep order at home and to maintain the honor of China outside the country's borders. They don't hide the fact that they are pleased the foreigners have been thrown out and that China is being run by Chinese.

Mao-Tse-tung's master stroke was his rapid adoption of land reform and his handing over of the land to the peasants.

'Ol' Vic' Tops List in Survey Of Daily Times Feature Items

'Ol' Vic, the pipe-smoking homespun philosopher who opines in rustic accents on every subject under the sun from the front page of The Times daily, is easily the most popular character among Times readers.

A recent sampling survey showed that 94% of the subscribers to The Times are 'Ol' Vic fans.

He led the field of 56 features on which readership was sought as a means of helping the editors to give Times' readers what they want in their daily paper.

But despite his popularity 'Ol' Vic refuses to disclose his identity.

MONTE AND PUNCH SECOND
Second in the readership parade is the amusing column "Between Times" by Monte Roberts, appearing each day at the top of the local news page.

Monte and his dog Punch are not as reticent as 'Ol' Vic, although after their recent spat with cat-lovers they talked about taking a short holiday. Monte and Punch count 85% of Times readers as their daily audience.

Monte, by the way, is Victoria-born, started his newspaper career in Vancouver, gravitated to Winnipeg, then to Toronto, and, like all true British Columbians, progressed back to the coast. Punch was born at Albert Head a year ago.

Law Above Religion Says Justice

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP)—Chief Justice Thibault said today that while serving on the bench he is not bound by the "contentions" of the Roman Catholic Church or any other religion.

"On this bench our religion is the religion of the law," he said.

He made the statement at the third day of a hearing on a request by Jehovah's Witnesses for recognition as a religious denomination.

Top Jockey Suspended for 10 Days

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—Jockey Tony Desposito, the nation's leading rider, today was suspended for 10 days, effective Friday, for allowing his horse to interfere with another in Wednesday's fourth race at Tropical Park.

Desposito, driving to break the record of 388 winners in a year, now has 370. His suspension virtually ended any chance of tying or breaking the record set in 1906 by Walter Miller and tied in 1950 by Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker.

Haney New Manager of Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11 (BUP)—Veteran Fred Haney has signed a one-year contract as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. This was announced following a brief meeting with general manager Branch Rickey.

Haney managed Hollywood to the Pacific Coast League championship last season. He replaces Billy Meyer who resigned because of poor health.

Trans-Pacific Jets Here in 1954

VANCOUVER, Dec. 11 (CP)—British-made Comet II jetliners will be streaking from Vancouver International Airport to Australia by the end of 1954, G. P. Watt of Melbourne, chairman of the board of British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines, said here today.

"Delivery of the improved de Havilland Comet II will be made early in '54 and they will be flying out of Vancouver by the end of that year."

PAID $2 FOR KISSES

Boys on Wild Spending
Spree After Purse Theft

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 11 (AP)—Everyone has a yen to live like a millionaire. No one had the desire more than two young brothers.

The boys, age 11 and 12, found temptation too much as they sat near a woman with a bulging purse Monday night. Later, when they looked inside the purse, they found what appeared to be a million dollars—or, $160 cash.

The next day they skipped to school loaded. Police, recapping their adventure, said they threw dollar bills in the air and watched their school mates scramble for the money.

One of them tipped a playmate $1.25 for a shoe shine. As the day wore on, the spending money became dull, the 12-year-old found a way to live things up. He gave a girl $2 for four kisses.

The brothers handed a school mate a $20 bill and ordered: "Here, son. Go get me some change." When the friend returned he was tipped $5 for his trouble.

To Pay $50 Fine

SEATTLE, Dec. 11 (AP)—Bud Poile, coach of Edmonton Flyers, was fined $50 today by President Al Leader of the Western Hockey League.

Poile was penalized for using abusive language and threatening referee Eddie Powers during and after the stormy Calgary-Edmonton game Wednesday night. Calgary won 9-2.

FEW VOTERS TURN OUT FOR CIVIC BALLOTWeather Blamed
For Poor Showing

A cold, driving rain and colorless election campaign combined to give Victoria a light poll of 1,340 to noon today.

A total vote somewhere in the "7,000's" is now expected by Returning Officer Frank Hunter who had earlier estimated a possible 9,000 poll.

By 12 noon in the Dec. 1950, election—last non-mayoral year, 1,897 persons had voted. This was 557 more than up to noon today.

Call B 3131 for Results
Expected By 10:30 p.m.

"The result so far indicates a below average vote even for a non-mayoral year," commented Mr. Hunter.

Forty persons were waiting for the doors of the central polling station in the Public Market to open this morning.

First voters were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Whellams of 1130 Woodstock.

Polls close at 7 p.m. and the first count will be under way by about 7.15 in the firemen's hall above the market.

Prime Ministers Prepare for June Talks as They Wind Up Conference

LONDON, Dec. 11 (Reuters)—Commonwealth prime ministers today wound up their economic conference and began making arrangements to return here in June for more talks.

Prime Minister Churchill is extending formal invitations to the Commonwealth statesmen to attend a second conference at the time of the Coronation.

In the meantime United States and European co-operation will be sought in the sterling recovery plan that has been drafted. A statement issued at the closing of the conference made it clear that such co-operation is essential to the plan.

It stressed the desirability of building up an effective system of trade among all countries. An integral part of such trade was the convertibility of sterling, the statement said, but that could only be achieved by progressive stages.

The statement listed three conditions for bringing the pound into a healthier exchange relationship with the dollar:

1. Continuing success of remedial action already taken by sterling countries.

2. The prospect that trading countries will adopt trade policies conducive to the expansion of world trade.

3. The availability of adequate financial support through the International Monetary Fund or otherwise.

The statement said the conference welcomed a proposal by a group of financial, industrial and commercial concerns in Britain to form a company to further development in other countries of the Commonwealth and Empire.

"At the present moment I cannot see where arbitration would be the means of starting fishing immediately, and that is the most important factor for the welfare of 5,000 persons and millions of dollars worth of equipment presently idle," Mr. Chetwynd said today.

The fishermen, represented by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers, had said they would fish immediately at a floor price of $9.37 a ton if the dispute was arbitrated by the government.

Won't Arbitrate
Fish Dispute

Fisheries Minister Ralph Chetwynd has refused to arbitrate the price dispute which has tied up British Columbia's multi-million dollar herring industry since October.

"The statement said the conference welcomed a proposal by a group of financial, industrial and commercial concerns in Britain to form a company to further development in other countries of the Commonwealth and Empire."

"At the present moment I cannot see where arbitration would be the means of starting fishing immediately, and that is the most important factor for the welfare of 5,000 persons and millions of dollars worth of equipment presently idle," Mr. Chetwynd said today.

The fishermen, represented by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers, had said they would fish immediately at a floor price of $9.37 a ton if the dispute was arbitrated by the government.

5 Injured, 30 Held
After Riot Act Read

(Compiled from BUP-CP Dispatches)

LOUISVILLE, Que., Dec. 11.—Police opened fire on rioting textile plant strikers today in Louisville, Que. At least five have been wounded, one seriously, and 30 others arrested as violence erupted for the fifth time in a nine-month strike against the Associated Textile Company Ltd.

The riot flared when police ordered strikers to break up a parade and they refused. Patrolmen used night sticks and guns to disperse the milling strikers who gathered near the Textile Company plant.

Paul Benoit, head of the provincial police at anti-subversive squad headquarters, read the Riot Act in the town forbidding the gathering of groups and making anyone found in the streets open for questioning. It put a form of martial law into effect.

Five union men were injured at union headquarters, two of them reported wounded by bullets.

300 MARCH
The first outbreak came early this morning when the 300 marched to the company's plant. Among them were the 50 reported to have come in from Granby, Que., by bus.

Strikers said police were on the plant roof and on the ground and that those on the roof began firing and throwing tear gas bombs. Police on the ground rushed the marchers and dispersed them.

The strikers and sympathizers then headed back into town and went to union headquarters.

They said a police car drew up. The strikers said they threw snowballs at the policemen, who moved in. Fighting broke out. Shots were fired and clubs wielded.

Raymond Gagnon, business agent of the union, said he called on Paul Benoit, officer in charge of the provincial police, to restore order.

About 800 employees of the textile plant went on strike last spring for higher wages and improved working conditions. Several attempts since then to settle the dispute have failed.

Earlier this week an empty bus was dynamited in this industrial town, about 65 miles from Montreal. No one was injured but damage was estimated at $4,000.

The Riot Act was last read in Quebec on May 5, 1949, following a bloody outbreak that marked a strike of asbestos miners at Asbestos. Twelve policemen were injured and road blocks, set up by the 5,000 strikers, cut off the town.

TAFT-HARTLEY LAW
SEEN IN MAKINGCriminal Code Amendments Branded
'Smoke Screen' to Smash UnionsBy DON INGHAM
Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO, Dec. 11.—Sections of Bill H-8, containing proposals to amend the Criminal Code of Canada were compared here today to the U.S. Taft-Hartley law.

Speaking before the provincial convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, George Gee, of the Vancouver local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said defense of the bill as a weapon against Communism is a "smoke screen."

"The Taft-Hartley Law in the United States was adopted to fight Communism," he said, "but is being used to smash labor unions."

Attacks on the proposed amendments, now before the Canadian Senate, culminated in the unanimous adoption of a resolution:

"That all sections covering the rights of workers to strike and picket be deleted, and that all sections affecting the democratic rights of citizens be amended or deleted."

A letter from the Trades and Labor Congress national headquarters, sent to all unions, drew sharp criticism for its statement that "we are not unduly alarmed at the proposals in Bill H-8, if adopted it will make the Criminal Code a much simpler document for the man on the street to understand."

Discussion of the letter led to some harsh statements for and against the national officers of the congress.

"Officers of the T.L.C. headquarters should be criticized for not alerting us sooner about this bill," said Mr. Gee.

R. K. Gervin, convention chairman, defended the stand of T.L.C. president Percy Bengough and Gordon Cushing, secretary.

"I support our recommendation. We must oppose any motion that restricts labor unions," Mr. Gervin said. "But they have given us leadership as they see it. They are in a better position than us to know what is going on in Ottawa, and they know what to do," he concluded.

Railways Put 16c Increase
In Effect

MONTREAL, Dec. 11 (BUP)—

The nation's railways today agreed to pay increase of 7 per cent plus 7 cents an hour for 144,000 non-operating employees and said "appropriate action" would be taken to cover employees not covered by wage agreements.

The percentage raise plus the 7 cents was expected to total about the 16 cents an hour recommended in a conciliation board majority report in November. The companies had already announced acceptance of the report.

D. I. McNeill, spokesman for the Canadian National, Canadian Pacific and allied railroads told representative of 17 unions the increase would be retroactive to Dec. 1.

Announcement of the increase came after two days' talks between union and company officials and representatives of the federal labor department.
